Johnson Keeps Tab On Events Down In Texas

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson is keeping tab on national and international problems while vacationing at his ranch here.

The President's guest today was former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Johnson said he wanted to "get his counsel on a number of national problems." These were not specified, and there was speculation that the Democratic politician may be in line for a federal post.

Johnson also was keeping in touch with the explosive situation in Cyprus, where fighting has erupted between Turks and Greeks. Developments on the island prompted two or three telephone conferences Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The pressure of official business during the holiday stay at the LBJ ranch was evidenced, too, by a new directive in which Johnson ordered a cutback in federal jobs within the next 18 months.

In discussing Cyprus with newsmen, Johnson said: "We have a situation developing here and we are watching it very carefully."

Aides reported that Johnson strongly supported efforts by the British, Greek and Turkish governments to stabilize the situation.

In ordering a cut in the federal pay roll, Johnson told agency heads:

"Even though nothing like this has happened in the last decade, I am still unconvinced that we are getting the maximum possible output per employee. I believe we can do better."

He said every department and agency would get personnel ceilings which "are not to be exceeded without my explicit approval."

Pay rolls are to be cut, if only slightly, in two stages—by next June 30 and by June 30, 1965.

When a reporter asked how big a job cut to expect, Johnson retorted:

"Isn't cutting it enough? You don't know how hard that was."

He noted that the number of federal employees had grown by 133,000 since 1961.

Ferency May Get Into Race

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats, faced with the probability of a wide-open battle for the primary nomination for governor, may find a surprise compromise candidate in the running — State Chairman Zoltan Ferency.

The latest speculation is a direct aftermath of the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Ferency supporters contend their man has just the touch of color and hard-hitting enthusiasm that might now be needed to balance the 1964 Democratic ticket in Michigan.

It is a foregone conclusion, they say, that President Johnson and Sen. Philip Hart will be the other two candidates at the top of the ticket, and neither of them can provide the dynamic image Kennedy would have presented.

Thinking It Over
Ferency himself isn't talking publicly, but it was learned he has been urged to run and is thinking over the suggestion seriously.

Ferency became state chairman last spring in a showdown battle at the state convention in Grand Rapids with John (Joe) Collins, who had served as chairman when former Gov. John Swainson was in office.

Swainson, however, backed Ferency's candidacy and with the help of labor delegates, won out despite support for Collins from national committeeman Rep. Neil Staeble, Sen. Patrick

McNamara and most other top Democratic leaders in the state. The split between the Swainson and Staebler forces appears likely to spill over into a clash in the primary.

Williams Silent
There has been some speculation that former Gov. G. Mennen Williams might return to run again for the office he held for an unprecedented 12 years, but Williams has remained silent on the possibility.

With Williams in the running, probably all of the potential candidates would step down and present a united front against the Republicans. If Williams does not choose to run, however, then Ferency may be put forth as a compromise candidate in the event of a standoff between Staebler and Swainson.

Others who have indicated an interest in the primary include Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, Highway Commissioner John Mackie and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

Since taking over the chairmanship, Ferency has been noted for his ability to "fire up the troops" with his speeches attacking Gov. George Romney when he thinks the chief executive is wrong.

This firebrand image is lacking in Staebler, say the Ferency backers.

Bottles Subdue Detroit Gunman

DETROIT (AP) — An east-side grocer and his wounded brother, both armed with pop bottles, subdued an armed hold-up man Wednesday, and ended what police believed to be an eight-hour crime spree involving four other holdups and another shooting.

Held for investigation of armed robbery was a man identified through his fingerprints as Charles A. Sawyer, 36, an ex-convict.

The brothers, Joseph Qsar, 36, owner of the Bayview Market, and Eddie Qsar, 24, a student at Spring Arbor Junior College, told police the bandit came into the store, pulled a gun and demanded money.

Eddie, home for the holidays, was in the rear of the store. He grabbed a knife and advanced on the robber. But the holdup man spotted Eddie, threatened him, and pulled the trigger. The gun misfired. The bandit fired again, this time hitting Eddie in the stomach.

The brothers grabbed pop bottles and knocked the bandit unconscious before he could shoot again. Police said the bandit refused to talk, but was identified as the same man who shot a gas station attendant, Taylor Holloway, 53, of Detroit, about eight hours earlier. Detectives said he also may be the same man who held up three cab drivers between the two robberies.

Eddie Qsar was reported in good condition at Detroit's Receiving Hospital. Holloway was listed in fair condition at the same hospital. Police said Sawyer was paroled from Southern Michigan Prison last September where he had been serving 1-5 years for gross indecency. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Receiving.

Christmas Tree And $185 Stolen

DENVER (AP) — While Mr. and Mrs. John Albi were out Wednesday a man walked into their first-floor apartment carrying a suitcase. A few minutes later, a neighbor saw him leave.

Gone, apparently in his satchel, were the folded-up limbs and main stem of the Albis' two-foot metal Christmas tree. The visitor also took 35 Christmas tree ornaments and $185 in cash.

Melvindale Man Tells Police He Shot His Uncle

DETROIT (AP) — William Davis, 33, of Melvindale, gave himself up here Tuesday night, and told police he shot his uncle, Robert Davis, of Ray, Mich., 10 days ago.

William Davis told police he and his uncle had had an argument about William's estranged wife. During the argument, Robert got a gun, police said, and William grabbed it and shot Robert.

William told police he drove to Toledo afterwards abandoned his car, assumed an alias, then returned to Detroit.

Ray is a Branch County community on the state border, near the spot where Michigan, Indiana and Ohio meet.

Traffic Deaths Up Near 300

By The Associated Press
Traffic deaths, the nation's No. 1 accident killer, saddened the Christmas holiday period in hundreds of homes across the nation today.

The traffic death toll during the two-day holiday period, with final figures still to come, was nearly 300, rate of one fatality every 10 minutes.

The death pace on the highways increased sharply Christmas Day, nearly doubling the toll reported in the first 24 hours of the holiday period which started at 12:01 a.m. (local time) Tuesday. The total reported at the end of the midweek Christmas holiday at 12:01 a.m. Thursday was 291.

Weather generally was fair in most of the nation but snowstorms earlier this week made driving hazardous in many areas.

The number of fatalities Christmas Day was far above the average of traffic deaths during the first 10 months this year and during last year's record toll of 40,900. The 10-month total was 35,170, an average of about 115 deaths daily compared to last year's daily average of 112.

The holiday deaths compared with a total of 170 highway fatalities counted by The Associated Press during a 48-hour non-holiday period from 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, to 12:01 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 12.

The last time Christmas occurred on a Wednesday, in 1957, there were 225 traffic deaths in a 30-hour period, from 6 p.m. Christmas Eve to midnight Christmas.

Rider, 101, Dies With Boots On

DENVER (AP) — Al Bobbitt, who rode horses until he was 98, died with his boots on Christmas Day as he sat rocking on a porch. He was 101.

Bobbitt served as a deputy U. S. Marshal in the Cherokee Strip of Oklahoma before the land rush. He later was a rodeo performer.

Thousands Cross To East Berlin; Escaper Killed

BERLIN (AP)—About 50,000 West Berliners crossed into East Berlin by noon today despite the Christmas Day killing of a young East German who tried to escape over the Berlin wall.

"The Christmas murder on the Berlin wall overshadows our joy at the Christmas meeting in the city," said West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, Erich Mende.

But with the day after Christmas also a holiday, the flow of visitors to relatives in the Communist sector continued at flood tide. When the gates opened at 6 a.m., the line was two blocks long at one crossing point.

There was no change in the friendly attitude of East German guards, reported under orders to "keep smiling" when the 16-day visiting period began last week by agreement between the West Berlin city government and East Germany's Red regime.

"But now you see their real face," a young Red Cross worker on duty at a crossing point said. "Here they smile and there they shoot."

Less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point an East German guard shot Paul Schulz, 18, in the back Wednesday as he sat entangled in barbed wire atop the concrete wall.

As loudspeakers blared Christmas music from the East German radio, the wounded youth toppled from the 9-foot wall into the arms of a West Berlin policeman. A companion, also 18, made it safely to the West, but Schulz died six hours later in a West Berlin hospital.

In allowing visits by West Berliners to their relatives in the East, the Communists made no relaxation in their ban on East Berliners going the other way.

Christmas Day traffic through the wall Wednesday was a record. Officials estimated more than 65,000 West Berliners crossed over.

One Fire Fatal To 12 Children

By The Associated Press
Fire killed 12 children in the Walter Johnson family in Charleston, S.C.—the worst of the nation's Christmas fires.

A family of six died in a house fire in Spring Lake, Mich.

A Christmas tree caught fire in a Muncie, Ind., home, killing two sisters, Michelle Johnson, 5, and Joretta, 3.

An exploding oil heater was blamed for the deaths of the 12 in Charleston, eight boys and four girls, aged 8 months to 20 years and all Negroes.

The victims were all in one bedroom at the top of the stairs. Johnson, 51, was critically burned trying to save them. Mrs. Johnson, 47, and a son, Nathaniel, 16, escaped.

Nine of the victims were her children, three her grandchildren. Authorities said Johnson and a friend were brightening the frame house for the holiday with a new linoleum floor and apparently spilled oil from the heater by accidentally tipping it. The explosion followed.

Schooling Cost Up 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average cost of educating a child in the public schools this school year is $352, an increase of $17 or 5 per cent over last year, the magazine School Management reported today.

The magazine said only 57 of the increase will be spent for better education, with the other $10 being used simply to offset the effects of inflation.

The magazine's annual survey is directed by Dr. Orlando F. Furno, director of research for Baltimore city schools.

Furno estimates that public schools across the country will spend $20.3 billion this school year, including the costs of school transportation, building and equipping new schools, and paying off old school debts.

The average cost per student for bus transportation is $16, and Furno said the school districts will spend $47 per student for new school construction this school year. These costs are in addition to the $352 per-pupil expenditure.

School debts, mostly long-term bonds for school construction, totaled $388 per student in the average school district as of last Sept. 1. Almost 10 per cent of the country's school districts were in debt $1,000 for each pupil enrolled.

Vandals Disable Howell Station

HOWELL (AP) — Radio station WHMI, Howell, returned to the air today after being silent three days because of vandalism last Saturday.

State police said they had no leads on the identities of the culprits who did several thousand dollars worth of damage to station equipment in the break-in.

Tension Rises As Turks Send Six Warships

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Britain ordered more troops to Cyprus today as a conflict between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish minority threatened to embroil NATO allies Greece and Turkey in open conflict.

Greece asked for an extraordinary session in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent council to discuss the crisis. Informed sources in Paris said the council met secretly Wednesday. The Cyprus government already has sent a complaint to the United Nations.

The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of massacring Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.

Massacre Charged
Then as the fighting died down to sporadic firing, the office of President Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, asserted six Turkish navy vessels had taken up positions off Cyprus.

President Cemal Gursel of Turkey also expressed grave concern, accused the Greek Cypriots of a massacre, and appealed to President Johnson and other world leaders to intervene.

The situation was being watched closely in both London and Washington. Greece and Turkey, long at odds over Cyprus, guard the Far Eastern flank of the Atlantic Alliance. Johnson was watching developments from his Texas ranch. Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain interrupted a Christmas vacation to return to London.

Diplomats Meet
What prompted Makarios to send a complaint to the U. N. Security Council was the flight of the Turkish jets and the movement of some of Turkey's 650-man garrison on Cyprus into the Turkish Cypriot quarter of this capital.

The Greeks promptly moved part of their 850 soldiers stationed on Cyprus into the Greek Cypriot section, thus setting the stage for a possible confrontation.

In an attempt to head off trouble, the diplomats of Britain, Greece and Turkey met with Makarios and decided to put British, Greek and Turkish forces in Cyprus under a unified command headed by a Briton, a communique announced.

There are about 10,000 British servicemen on Cyprus, stationed here as in the case of the Greek and Turkish garrisons under the treaty of 1960 making Cyprus an independent member of the British Commonwealth.

Tactics Revised By Rockefeller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is abandoning attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in his GOP presidential nomination drive.

The New York governor, only announced candidate for the nomination, resumes campaigning with a Jan. 3 Portsmouth, N.H., speech after a month's political moratorium following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The sweeping political changes brought about by the probability that President Johnson will head the 1964 Democratic ticket are expected to be reflected in altered campaign tactics by Rockefeller.

In the period preceding Kennedy's death, Rockefeller gave about equal time to attacking Goldwater for his conservative views and to lambasting Kennedy for what the governor said was the President's failure to live up to his 1960 promises on civil rights, action to end unemployment and to get the country moving faster economically.

Rockefeller was said by associates to be planning in the Portsmouth speech to lay down in broad terms the reasons he is running for the nomination and what he would hope to do if he were elected president.

Rule Bay Ice Not Yet Safe

Two county ice-fishermen, anxious to get the season underway, discovered Tuesday that it is still a little early for the bay ice to carry the weight of cars and trucks.

Both men lost their vehicles to the waters of Little Bay de Noc.

Gerald Dupuy of Perkins took his pickup truck out onto the ice about 12:30 p. m., Tuesday just off Nelson's landing at Masonville. He told police that he parked the pickup about 200 feet off shore and went into his ice-shanty to fish.

He said a short time later he heard a loud crack, went out to investigate and was just in time to see the tailgate of his truck disappearing into the water. The truck settled on the bottom in about 20 feet of water.

Albert C. Rousseau of Rte. 1, Gladstone, notified police that he lost his car in a similar incident about 4:30 p. m., Christmas Eve. He told officers he had been out on the ice earlier that day without incident.

However, he said as he drove along at 4:30 p. m., he suddenly noticed the car began to feel strange, as though it was settling down. He jumped from the car just in time and the vehicle went through the ice and settled on the bottom about 200 feet off Beecher's Landing at Kipling.

Sgt. Hugh E. Pope, commander of the Gladstone State Police Post today warned potential ice-fishermen that as yet the bay ice is not safe for driving and urged fishermen to use extreme caution while on foot in travel to and from their shanties.

Job Increases Lost To Import Tide Of Plywood

Birds Eye Veneer Co., employing more than 100 persons in its Escanaba and Marquette operations, would be employing more than 200 if the American plywood industry had had normal growth.

But the American plywood industry is stagnant. Up to 20 years ago it had a normal increase in production and sales of about 10 per cent a year. Since then imports have taken the increase away from American mills like those of Birds Eye, one of the Upper Peninsula's senior wood industries, a producer of high quality veneers.

About 40 per cent of the cost of veneer is labor. Labor that produces foreign veneers imported into the United States market isn't paid the wages or fringes that American plywood industry workers get. So with current American tariff policy, imports have captured the great growth of plywood use in America.

President John M. Price of the Hardwood Plywood Institute reports in current issue of the Southern Lumberman that in the decade 1953-62 U. S. consumption of hardwood plywood increased 134 per cent. Domestic hardwood plywood production, which supplied 79 per cent of the domestic market in 1953, supplied only 42 per cent in 1962. Imported plywood, which had only 21 per cent of the domestic market in 1953, had 58 per cent by 1962.

Japan was the largest supplier with 30 per cent of the U. S. market.

Russell Lee, president of Birds Eye Veneer Co., said that Birds Eye, like all American veneer and plywood mills, has unused capacity because of the non-growth in recent years of the domestic industry.

Failure of the industry to grow, he said, affects not only investors, but also the job increase potential of the industry and the big wood market that it provides. "Our employment should have doubled, if we'd had a proportionate share of the increased use of plywoods," said Lee "and our wood buying would also have gone up a lot and it would have affected all species; they'd all be moving."

The Hardwood Plywood Institute is working to increase the market for American plywoods, with services on quality controls, operations and market analysis, and a public promotion campaign and legislative lobbying.

Gains in plywood usage have been noted in recapture of the TV cabinet market from metal and plastic. Zenith this year will use wood in 30 per cent of its TV cabinets compared with only 5 per cent wood 5 years ago. GE has adopted its own wood labels and a dozen other TV manufacturers are using the Walnut Association, Mahogany Association or Fine Hardwoods Association labels to identify either genuine wood cabinets.

The Upper Peninsula, with wood industries as its largest economic sector has a big stake in the marketing of fine woods, which are the cream of its forest crop as veneer or sawlogs.

Power Peaks Set Record

New highs in the kilowatt demand for electric power were reached in Escanaba last week, it is reported by City Manager George Harvey.

William Van Effen, electric department superintendent said that on Dec. 16 a demand of 10,400 was reached and this was exceeded by a demand of 10,500 on Dec. 19. The previous high was 10,080 on Jan. 28, 1963.

Both of the new peak demands last week occurred in the late afternoon—the hour when lights go on all over town, cooks have their dinners in the oven, and shops are brightly lit for the holidays.

Power consumption for November totaled over four million kilowatt hours, which set a new high for the month.

Ask Graduates Aid EHS Study

Student graduates of Escanaba High School are invited to meet with a study committee at 2 p. m. Monday at the new Area High School as part of a unique examination of the high school's educational program.

"We hope the students home for the holidays will give us the benefit of their experience as graduates," said George S. Douglas, chairman of the curriculum study committee.

Douglas is one of the committee composed of citizens, teachers and school board members asked by the board of education to examine the high school program. He is manager of the Escanaba Division of Mead Corp.

"We want to meet not only with students in colleges and universities but also with those who are enrolled in trade and technical schools—everything from mechanics to nursing and cosmetology and other fields," said Douglas.

The committee seeks to evaluate the courses offered in the high school here in preparing the students for study in college and other institutions in furthering their chosen careers. The experience of the graduates will be invaluable in the analysis.

Other members of the curriculum study committee are citizens Mrs. John Fawcett, Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, Wheaton Strom, Irwin Ten Haken; teachers Bernadette Brennan, Edward Havitz, Conrad Beck, Robert Hanson and

Education Cost In Michigan Up By 9 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of educating a youngster in Michigan's public schools has increased by 9.1, or nine per cent, in a one-year period, it was shown today in regional figures.

The increase for Michigan was an average figure showing rising educational costs in a five-state Midwestern region and was reported by the magazine School Management.

Michigan's per-child cost change from 1962-63 to 1963-64 compared with a national average increase of 17, or five per cent per pupil.

States grouped with Michigan to obtain the average cost were Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Canadian Cars Increasing Part Of U.P. Traffic

The big role of Canadian cars and trucks in Upper Peninsula traffic is one of the highlights of the report of the Michigan State Highway Department on its study of traffic at its tourist information centers.

With the opening of a third Upper Peninsula tourist information center at Sault Ste. Marie in 1964 serving incoming traffic from Canada, the Highway Department says the percentage of Canadian cars which show up in future reports will increase automatically.

No attempt has been made by the Highway Department to determine where the 225,000 individuals served by its seven tourist information centers in the summer of 1963 is representative of the total tourist traffic, but the study, though inconclusive in this respect, brings much valuable data to Michigan's tourism and economic development planning by showing the origins and destinations of the traffic served at the information centers, what it did, how long it stayed and how much it spent.

Quarter Canucks

The Ironwood tourist information center reported that 26.2 per cent of tourists entering Michigan there came from Canada. At Port Huron Canadians comprised 60 per cent. At Menominee they were only 0.7 per cent and at Mackinaw City below the Straits only 4.9 per cent, indicating that the Canadians who stopped for information did so at the border stops in Michigan.

There are several traffic flows of Canadians through Michigan; one across the Peninsula from the Sault to Ironwood and reverse, and others moving from the Sault across the Straits south and into Michigan at Port Huron and north across the Straits through Ironwood and back into Canada and reverse. Some of the Port Huron entry also loops Lake Michigan through Chicago.

The Highway Department study of the tourists it served at its information centers showed strong flows of summer traffic in rather well defined routes.

Quarter From State

Michigan residents vacationing in their own state supplied 23.5 per cent of the tourists. Another 46.5 per cent came from the adjoining states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. (Ironwood showed the pull of proximity, reporting that 13.5 of its tourists came from Minnesota.)

So Michigan knows that nearly half its tourists come from four Midwestern states, almost a quarter of them from Michigan, and 10 per cent of them from Canada. Eastern states supplied 7.2 per cent, central states 7.4 per cent, western states, 1.8 per cent and south states 2.9 per cent while foreign countries, except Canada, contributed only 0.008 per cent.

Of the Eastern States visitors Pennsylvania sent most, 2.3 per cent, New York next most, 2.1 per cent and only New Jersey with 1 per cent was above fractional categories. Minnesota sent most from the central states, 3 per cent, California most from the western states, 1 per cent and Kentucky most from the southern states 0.5 per cent.

The tourists had destinations in every Michigan county. Where they asked information influenced the result. At Menominee the information center reported these destination percentages: Local (Menominee, Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger counties) 17.4; Sault, 27.5; Mackinac Bridge 32.9; Port Huron 0.2; Detroit 1.8 and out-of-state 7.1.

Sightseeing Tops

At Ironwood: Local (Keweenaw, Houghton, Ontonagon, Baraga, Gogebic and Iron counties) 28.7; Sault, 18.2; Detroit 5.1; Port Huron 9 (that's the Canadians), Mackinac Bridge 1.1, touring U.P. 14.1 and out-of-state 5.1.

They drove an average of 875 miles and spent $167 and they had 318 persons in their cars and stayed mostly at motels ($2.7 per cent). Camping was the next most used accommodation, rating 26.2 per cent.

Sightseeing and visiting public attractions (63.6 per cent) were the most frequent tourist objectives, but there was considerable individual variance. At New Buffalo in Lower Michigan tourists reported 23.1 per cent interest in water sports and at Ironwood only 0.4 per cent so indicated. Tourists interested in water sports stayed longer than tourists with other interests and preferred camping to motels, a reversal of majority preference of center users.

Manistique Man Fined $100 On Driving Charge

Bernard L. Chartier, 46, of Manistique, was fined $100 plus court costs of $5, or 30 days in jail, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol when arraigned before Justice Ross P. Davis in Gladstone this morning.

Chartier, also charged with driving while his license was suspended, was fined an additional $25 plus $4.30 costs and three days in jail, or an additional 10 days if the fine is not paid.

The fines were not paid and Chartier was remanded to the Delta County jail.

He was arrested by State Police at 9:20 p. m. Christmas Eve on U. S. 2-41 in the City of Gladstone after a resident had notified the Police Post about his erratic driving.

Edward H. Hermanson, 48, of Grand Marais, was released today from St. Francis Hospital after treatment for injuries suffered in an accident at 23rd and Ludington Sts. at 8:12 p. m. Tuesday. The driver of the other car, Donald R. Porath of 204 S. 16th St., was ticketed by Escanaba police for driving too fast for conditions.

Police arrested Eugene G. Roberts of 327 S. 7th St. for reckless driving after his car went out of control and jumped the curb in the 200 block, S. 14th St. In municipal court today he paid fine and costs of $30.

Chancellor Flies In From Bonn To Meet President

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard heads for his meeting with President Johnson bolstered by a stronger voice in world affairs, thanks to a solution of the Common Market crisis. This was his first big test as West Germany's new leader.

Erhard is flying from Bonn Friday for a weekend at the Johnson ranch in Texas and the first full-scale talks since the chancellor and the President took office.

Long famous as the author of West Germany's post-war economic boom, Erhard, 66, succeeded former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Oct. 16 under a cloud of doubt. Adenauer called his former economic minister naive politically.

But Erhard made a strong start in foreign affairs by standing up to the formidable French president, Charles de Gaulle, on the eve of the West German leader's trip to the United States.

De Gaulle's stand imperiled the Common Market experiment for West Germany and the four other member nations—Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Erhard stubbornly refused to accept a unified agricultural policy De Gaulle wants until the French president made concessions. Erhard pressured De Gaulle into supporting a U.S.-favored liberal approach on the coming international tariff negotiations in Geneva.

Although De Gaulle warned that the Common Market might break up, Erhard remained unruffled. Puffing slowly on a big, black cigar, his trademark, Erhard predicted a solution would be found.

It was Monday, after a prolonged foreign ministers' conference in Brussels. De Gaulle agreed to the joint tariff stand. Erhard made concessions in farm policy.

The result, enthusiastically received in Bonn, boosted Erhard's chances for re-election in 1965, and strengthened his hand in dealing with Johnson.

Report Three Auto Mishaps

Gladstone City Police issued traffic court summonses to three motorists over the Christmas holiday as the result of traffic accidents.

Raymond Vincent, 38, of 413 Minnesota Ave., was ticketed for excessive speed for conditions as the result of a mishap at 4:20 p. m. Tuesday on Lake Shore Dr., about 65 feet west of S. 10th St.

Officers said that Vincent was driving behind a vehicle operated by Harold Berg, 31, of 215 1/2 N. Court St., Gladstone, both headed east. Berg slowed to make a left-hand turn on 10th St. and Vincent ran into the rear of the Berg vehicle.

Lois Berg, a passenger in the car driven by Harold Berg, complained of injury, but had no visible signs of being injured.

Eileen Gadus, 46, of Chicago, was ticketed for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead after she struck a parked car owned by Joseph H. Depuydt of 403 Delta Ave. at 9:05 p. m. Tuesday.

Police said that Mrs. Gadus was driving east on Delta Ave. when she struck the rear of the Depuydt car, which was legally parked.

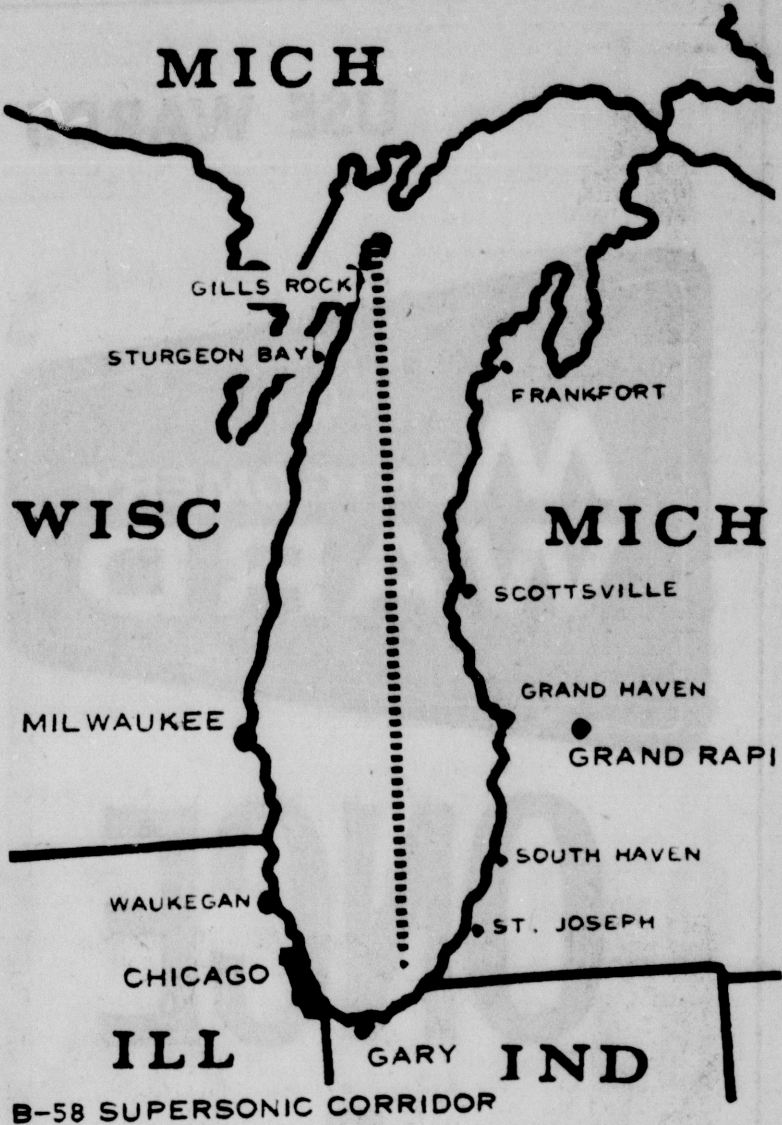

Officers also ticketed Barry A. McKendry, 18, of 113 S. 9th St., Gladstone, as the result of an accident. McKendry was going north on S. 11th St. when he failed to obey the yield right-of-way sign at Minneapolis Ave. and drove into the path of a car driven by Hazel E. Anderson, 64, of 1602 Minneapolis Ave.

McKendry was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Lippens of St. Nicholas, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bonamer and Marilyn, Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schermer and Nancy Mae and Harold Robinson and sons, were guests.

Mrs. Eli Taylor and Mrs. Lucien Poisson returned from Milwaukee where they visited with Roy Taylor, who is ill. Walter Witte, who has been sailing on the lakes, is at the Martin Witte home.

THIS IS THE BOMBER course on Lake Michigan announced by the Air Force which will result in sonic booms. Gills Rock is 25 miles almost due south of Escanaba at the tip of the Door County, Wis., peninsula.

Test Corridor To Make Booms

OFFUTT AFB, Neb. —Strategic Air Command has announced the opening of two supersonic test corridors effective Jan. 2.

The routes to be flown are from Altus, Okla., to Kerrville, Tex., and over the length of Lake Michigan.

Flights along these routes may occur daily and normally will not be scheduled between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m.

SAC B-58 Hustlers, the free world's fastest bomber, will fly at supersonic speeds up to Mach 2 (1,300 mph) at altitudes above 35,000 feet. They will fly in a 40-mile-wide corridor and may travel in either direction.

Because of the high altitudes, the sonic booms created are comparatively weak in strength. Although sometimes startling or distracting in their suddenness, the booms will in no circumstance cause personal injury, the Air Force states.

Ticketed For Minor Mishap

Albert E. Johnson, 67, of Bark River, was ticketed by sheriff's officers for driving left of the centerline, following an accident at 9:10 a. m., Wednesday on U. S. 2-41.

According to deputies, Johnson was driving east on U. S. 2-41 when he made a left-hand turn into the post office at Bark River, but stopped over the centerline. He did so in the path of an oncoming car driven by Darwin V. Granger, 34, of Kingsford. No one was injured.

Alert Dog Dies

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — Fire killed Mrs. Jean Leonard, 50, and her dog today, but the dog's barking alerted Mrs. Leonard's 13-year-old daughter in time for a safe escape.

The daughter, Melissa, fled from a rear bedroom. Police said the fire may have started from a cigarette smoldering in a living room sofa.

JEAN WORTH, Editor

Wanted: Industry

Ray Pfeifer of the Michigan Conservation Department has made a compilation of surplus timber on 7 large private ownerships in the Upper Peninsula representing about one third of the U. P. forest land which shows an annual volume of 219,000 cords of surplus annually.

Other ownerships undoubtedly have surpluses which could be added if they were known. George N. Semmens, secretary of the Forestry Committee of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems told UPCAP, which works for economic development of the U.P.

An industrial economy is created by converting resources into saleable products. Here the Upper Peninsula has a big wood resource that is not now being marketed. If it could be marketed the U.P.'s income would be increased substantially and the increases would tend to come where they are needed most, because there is a relationship in wood industry between surplus and plants. The surplus is greatest where there are fewest plants; their absence creating the lack of market that causes the surplus.

The more than 200,000 cords of wood surplus annually in the Upper Peninsula on only a third of its forest lands would supply several large industries with their wood needs if volume alone counted, but industries need specific species. Some 58,000 cords of this surplus, for instance, is cedar, which is not now used as a pulping wood and the pulp market takes more U.P. wood than any other usage.

There are over 100,000 cords of aspen, balsam of gilead and white birch, which are all pulping woods but a big part of this is surplus primarily because of its location; 13,800 cords being in Chippewa County and 20,800 cords in Mackinac County. They are so distant from Wisconsin, which buys more than 60 per cent of U. P. pulpwood, that their wood doesn't move. The transportation rate isn't necessarily a bar to marketing, but often the wood moves over several railroad lines and the transfer charges, added to the freight bill, price the wood out of the market.

U.P. pulp and wood chemical mills buy from 22,000 to 100,000 cords of wood annually. These volumes indicate the large potential of income that exists in the surplus woods if they could be marketed.

The situation emphasizes the need for economic planning. The Upper Peninsula needs the income that these trees could produce. Their failure to move to market creates a loss greater than the direct item of their stumpage value, because when they are not marketed at maturity they cause the forest to decline in quality and value. Good forest management is impossible if there cannot be commercial cuttings to upgrade the stand. The lack of them harms recreational values of the forest, as well, because the renewal of the forest with young trees is obstructed and these young trees supply the feed for deer and other wildlife.

Several agencies are working to solve this marketing problem. The U.S. Forest Service seeks markets for its surplus woods. Michigan Tech has asked state funds for a study of wood marketing in the Eastern Upper Peninsula where the greatest problems persist. UPCAP and Operation Action-U.P. and the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion are all interested in a solution. And the Conservation Department's effort to solve the problem resulted in the survey which sized the surplus.

Practically, there will have to be several solutions because the problem varies by area and species. But the problem is the kind that the Peninsula should welcome because it is a problem of use of a resource and not lack of a resource. If the problem stands were stumplands, not much could be done quickly. Use of ingenuity like that which has brought such renewed vigor to U.P. iron mining should be able to expand our wood industry future.

Gulf Started It

This month marks a 50th anniversary that should not go unnoticed. It was in December 1913 that the world's first drive-in service station opened for business in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The word "service" was not a misnomer.

The Gulf station was a marked improvement in a day when gasoline was usually dispensed at curb-side by livery stables or hardware stores.

It was the first to offer free oil checking, free air and water and free installation of tires and tubes purchased there. It also made a rest room available to motorists.

Two grades of gas were available. To fill a tank, the attendant cranked the pump handle one complete turn, delivering one gallon. The handle was then cranked back to its original position and the cycle run through again to pump another gallon.

Although invitations had been sent to automobile owners in the neighborhood, the first day's sales were disappointing—only 30 gallons. But on the following weekend this shot up to 350 gallons, indicating that Sunday drivers were already an American institution.

Oddly enough, the station was built on sand, but it had a secure foundation in the automobile revolution. Such a small acorn—and how it grew!

How To Refill Bathtub Joints

AP Newsfeatures

The mortar joints around the top of a bathtub are especially susceptible to the ravages of time because they are constantly under attack from water. This is especially true if the tub has an overhead shower, which sends water against the walls and down toward the joints.

Various kinds of caulking compounds are available for patching such areas, most of them far more effective than those on the market years ago. Before applying the compound, remove all loose mortar, but do not disturb that which is firmly in place.

Use a small brush to dust the crevices thoroughly, otherwise the compound will not adhere properly. Be sure too, that the sections to be repaired are completely dry.

Apply the compound directly from the tube, squeezing it with an even pressure as you move your hand along the joint. Don't worry too much if you don't get the hang of it immediately, since a certain amount of leveling will be necessary in any case.

A wooden spatula—or one of those wooden sticks from an ice cream pop—is excellent for the leveling of the joint. Do not attempt this immediately. Wait 30 or 40 minutes until the compound has started to set and you'll get a better result. Dampening the stick sometimes helps in smoothing uneven patches.

A single-edge razor blade will effectively remove compound which slopes over onto the wall or the tub.

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Everyone in Washington is looking forward to President Johnson's first big press conference—which will probably break all records for attendance. Reporters are already dreaming up tough questions to throw at him:

• "... How do you stand on reducing oil depletion allowances?"

• "... Will you appoint a woman to your cabinet?"

• "... Who is your first choice as vice presidential running mate in 1964?"

• "... What will be your policy on Cuba, which you didn't mention in your first address to Congress?"

• "... Is Bobby Kennedy going to resign, and will Abe Fortas succeed him as your attorney general?"—and so on.

In Johnson's first informal press conference with White House regular correspondents there were a couple of near-bobbles. News was given out on defense personnel cutbacks and ending the Dyna-Soar program before all Pentagon and private industry officials concerned had been fully notified.

Also Johnson barred television and live radio. This turned the broadcasters and brought forth a demand for equal time on the air.

The new President is expected to make some changes from the Kennedy-style press conference, and he is feeling his way. But he is such an experienced operator that he can be counted on to have ready answers for any embarrassing question that may be brought up.

Renaming Cape Canaveral, Fla., as Cape Kennedy has stirred up local city council and inspired this story:

A visitor to the missile base checked in at a coastal resort motel and phoned his business contact for an appointment.

"Did you get here all right?" asked the native.

"Yes," replied the visitor, "I did just what you told me. I landed at Kennedy Airport, took a Kennedy cab down Kennedy boulevard to the Kennedy Hotel and here I am, ready to inspect the Kennedy Missile Center."

Sen. Jennings Randolph D-W. Va., points out that the 88th Congress is a good deal like a sports car. Says Randolph: "It makes a lot of noise and costs a lot of money, but it can't pass anything."

Paul H. Nitze, former director of the State Department's policy planning staff, is the latest experiment in the Pentagon game of "making the peg fit the hole." Newly named secretary of the Navy, Nitze in fact has had no experience at all in the Navy or in any other branch of the armed services.

The closet he came to military duty in World War II was as vice chairman of the Strategic Bombing Survey in 1944. Before that he was director of the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs. He was brought into the Pentagon primarily because he was an expert on foreign and economic affairs.

On the other hand, Kenneth E. Belieu—being talked up as a possible successor to Cyrus R. Vance as secretary of the Army—is currently assistant secretary of the Navy.

The telephone rang in the office of an aide to Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton. A man asked: "Is he coming to see the governor?"

The aide was baffled: "Is who coming?"

The reply: "Dick Nixon, of course. He just landed a few moments ago at the Harrisburg Airport."

Answering, "No," the aide explained he didn't even know Nixon was in the state. Nixon, it turns out, was on his way to see Gen. Eisenhower at his Gettysburg farm.

John Kenneth Galbraith, making a speech on "Wealth and Poverty" before a Farmers Educational Foundation group in Washington, delivered some barbed compliments to Sen. Barry Goldwater without mentioning the author of "The Conscience of a Conservative" by name.

Galbraith, for those who may have forgotten, is also an author—"The Affluent Society," and others—and is a former Kennedy administration brain-truster and ambassador to India, now back in business at his old stand, dishing it out as a professor at Harvard.

"The first three or four times I read 'The Conscience of a Conservative,'" said Galbraith, "I confess that I was slightly attracted by the vision of a young, two-fisted man of my own age, up from the ranks, self-made, self-reliant, accepting the risk of illness without income, disdaining any organized provision for his old age, asking only that he might keep safe from the tax collector what he earned by the sweat of his brow."

"I continue to think of this as the work of a detached scholar. But in the purely literary way that one writer explores the psyche of another, I wonder if some personal anxieties are not eased by identification with a really good store."

So They Say

I've been in the police bureau for 23 years and it was the first time I've ever caught anyone inside a house. And it had to be mine.—Police Chief John J. Smith of Wilmington, Del., who caught a 15-year-old boy breaking into his house.

It is time for the Congress to take stock, to shape up. Can the Congress still submit to tactics of delay and to petty haggling while the public looks on with scorn and dismay?—Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla.

When I suggested a national space program including a landing on the moon about 15 years ago, most people thought I was some kind of a nut.—Rocket man Dr. Werner von Braun.

There was a time employers might reluctantly hire a fair-skinned Negro. Now they want those readily identified as Negro. That way, when they walk through the plant with a government official, it's easier to point them out.—Louis Ervin, head of the Minneapolis Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Hon. Lyndon B. Johnson
The President

As I sit here in Ironwood listening to TV covering the tragic assassination of our dear and beloved friend, the late John F. Kennedy, the President of the United States, I cannot help but realize that the finger of the assassin that pressed the trigger was not the only cause of this dreadful tragedy.

My mind went back to the time when we both served in the Congress in the House of Representatives. I was a candidate for re-election and I received the news from you that you had solicited $500 from your friends and donated it to me for my campaign for re-election, together with a note wishing me luck for a successful campaign and re-election to Congress. It meant more than the money to me. Here was a Southerner supposed to be a conservative, working and helping a Northern liberal. Truly, American spirit.

I remembered the good advice and counsel from you and our good friend Sam Rayburn. I must confess that I suspected that our good friend Mr. Sam had something to do with this.

I learned Lyndon Johnson from that time on and was proud to have told my Democratic friends who criticized John F. Kennedy for choosing me to be his running mate that I knew you to be one of the world's most able statesmen. That knowing you over a period of years I could vouch that you would make a wonderful vice president.

I backed it up with this statement: "It is easy for anyone from this congressional district to be a liberal, but it takes a real man, a real American to advocate liberal principles when he has to be elected in the region from which Lyndon B. Johnson comes. He is a real liberal and a true Democrat."

ocrat . . . The nation cannot do better than to choose these two men, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson to lead our nation in its march toward democracy and peace."

I am proud my prediction came true . . .

It has been my privilege to have followed your career, even through all of the 17 years since I left the Congress. I am happy and proud to have been and be your friend and supporter. Our country is in good hands under your leadership. Every American should dedicate himself to support you in your great endeavors.

Assassination Of President Voted Top Story Of Year

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"President Kennedy died at 1 p. m." The flash on the Associated Press wire told the incredible news.

The 35th President of the United States, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, had been assassinated while riding through Dallas, Tex., in a motorcade. He was 46 and had been President two years, 10 months and two days.

Editors of AP member newspapers and radio and TV stations agree that the swift tragedy of Friday, Nov. 22, and its aftermath obviously was the No. 1 story of 1963.

Gov. John B. Connally Jr., of Texas, riding in the President's car, was shot and injured by the assassin, Kennedy, hit twice in the head, was pronounced dead at Parkland Hospital. At 2:30 p. m., Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in as President on the presidential jet at Love Field, Dallas. The late President's body and his widow were aboard for the trip back to Washington.

Stunned Americans, stricken at a death in their own families, wept, filled the churches, read newspapers, marvelled at the composure of Jacqueline Kennedy and watched TV as the flag-draped, closed coffin solemnly was moved from the East Room of the White House to lie in state in the Capitol, from there to St. Matthew's Cathedral for Requiem Mass, finally for burial at Arlington National Cemetery.

Television watchers on Sunday also saw Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, accused killer of the President and of a policeman who had confronted him, fatally shot by a Dallas nightclub owner, Jack Ruby.

Americans, joined by citizens of many other countries, observed Monday, Nov. 25, as a day of mourning for JFK.

The editors voted the Civil Rights crisis the second biggest story of the year.

There was violence. Medgar Evers, Mississippi field secretary for the NAACP, was shot in the back and killed outside his home. Four Negro girls died and 23 were injured when Birmingham's 16th Street Baptist Church was dynamited on a Sunday morning. Before the day was over, more violence erupted and two more persons were dead and three injured. Six white persons were shot and several white-operated stores burned in nights of disorder in Cambridge, Md.

And nonviolence. Negroes staged sit-ins, wade-ins and picket lines. North and South, to dramatize their demand for equal treatment. More than 200,000 Negro and White, joined the orderly Aug. 28 March on Washington.

And the schools. James Meredith was graduated from the University of Mississippi; Cleveland McDowell became the first Negro in the Ole Miss law school, without the federal marshals who had accompanied Meredith's arrival a year before.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama twice resisted school integration, then gave in when President Kennedy federalized the state National Guard, and the University of Alabama and elementary schools in four Alabama cities enrolled their first Negro students. Parochial schools completed integration throughout Georgia; 800 Negro children in Prince Edward County, Va., without any school since 1959, began classes in four privately financed schools; 120 southern school districts announced desegregation this fall, compared with 46 in 1962.

No. 3 story of 1963 is a scandal which rocked Britain and nearly toppled the government. War Minister Harold Macmillan by his side, denied before the House of Commons on March 22 all rumors that he had had an improper relationship with 22-year-old Christine Keeler. However, on June 5, Profumo resigned and admitted that he had lied. Investigation revealed that Christmas also had been sharing her favors with a Soviet naval attaché and suspected spy, Evgeny Ivanov. In a storm of public disapproval, Macmillan's opposition and some members of his own Conservative Party accused him of negligence and insisted that he resign at once. Macmillan resisted these pressures.

But the biggest scandal in the party's 11 years in power was not over. Society osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward was tried in June on charges of living on the immoral earnings of Christine Keeler and Mandy Rich-Davies. Dr. Ward swallowed an overdose of drugs on the last day of the trial and died without learning he had been convicted. Christine Keeler received a nine-month sentence in December for perjury in another court case involving another of her lovers.

Viet Nam claimed the editors' votes for story No. 4. The United States, with a big troop and money commitment in South Viet Nam, remained vitally interested in the progress of the war against the Communist Viet Cong. Vietnamese Buddhists demanded religious and social freedom from the country's Catholic president, Ngo Dinh Diem. Diem declared martial law and attempted to break Buddhist opposition, a move attributed to his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu. Some Buddhist monks responded by publicly burning themselves to death. Sharp-tongued Mme. Nhu, considered by many the power behind the throne, was on a three-week speaking tour of the United States when the military coup took place which overthrew the Diem regime and resulted in the deaths of the president and his brother. Nguyen Ngoc Tho, vice president under Diem, became premier.

The editors' other choices for top 10:

5. The atomic submarine Thresher, rated the world's fastest and deepest diving sub, disappeared April 10 after a steep test dive, with 129 men on board. Search for the Thresher was abandoned Sept. 5, after the recovery of a single bit of copper tubing from the Thresher's hull in the Atlantic 220 miles east of Boston.

6. Pope Paul VI, the first cardinal created by Pope John XXIII and head of Italy's largest diocese, was elected Pope June 21. He announced he would follow the policies of his liberal predecessor and work for peace and keep open the pathways of friendly dealings with all Christian denominations. On Sept. 29 Pope Paul opened the second session of the Ecumenical Council, convened and recessed in 1962 by Pope John.

7. After years of negotiation, a test ban treaty was initiated July 25 by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, pledging an end to nuclear testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. All three countries hailed it as a breakthrough in easing Cold War tension. The U. S. Senate approved the treaty Sept. 24, by an 80 to 19 vote.

8. The Supreme Court, ruling on cases from Maryland and Pennsylvania, on June 17 declared unconstitutional Bible reading and recital of the Lord's Prayer in public schools as part of required classroom exercises. Justice Potter Stewart was the lone dissenter.

9. David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, trapped in a

Hazleton, Pa., mine for 14 days, were rescued Aug. 27. First contacted after they had been trapped six days and given up by many for dead, rescuers began drilling and finally pulled the two men to the surface in safety harnesses, through an 18-inch shaft for more than 300 feet deep. Rescuers were not able to locate a third miner, Louis Bova, who was separated from Fellin and Throne by fallen debris.

10. In a sharp exchange of letters last spring, the Soviet Union and Red China exposed deep policy disagreement and competition for leadership of world Communism. Mao Tse-tung called for violence and subversive penetration of non-Communist countries while Khrushchev favored peaceful coexistence and drew the line at nuclear war. U. S. analysts consider that a de facto split exists between Russia and Red China.

CIVIL RIGHTS struggle is dramatized by pickets who, chained together by a member of CORE, sit in the roadway to a hospital construction site in Brooklyn July 25 to protest alleged job discrimination. New York City policemen move in to remove the chain with wire cutters and arrest demonstrators.

Recognition of outstanding service to the traveling public is part of the program that was jointly sponsored last summer by the U.P. Tourist Association and the Luce County Chamber of Commerce in co-operating with the Extension Service of Michigan State University.

Regional U.P. winners of the hospitality program will be announced at an Upper Peninsula Tourist Association banquet to be held in Escanaba Jan. 9. The regional winners will receive a 10 day expense paid trip around Lake Superior plus a TV set and a $100 government bond.

Michigan Image Improved Under Romney Regime

By The Associated Press

There is divided opinion within the Michigan business community on whether it has benefited directly from Gov. George Romney's Republican administration.

But the consensus is that there has been at least indirect benefit through creation of a so-called better business climate.

Associated Press member newspapers throughout the state participated in sampling opinions of business leaders on whether there had been direct benefit attributable to Romney's administration.

Some said yes. Some said no.

Prestige Helps

Most, however, agreed with this summation by Dr. Paul W. McCracken, University of Michigan professor of business conditions:

"The old image of Michigan as an old, tired, bankrupt ship on shore has just disappeared. I get about the nation quite a bit and I don't run into this feeling anywhere. I give Romney credit for improving this tangible thing we call image."

Dr. McCracken also added that "I think the more sophisticated businessmen are mature enough to know you don't get miracles from anybody."

The Ann Arbor News reported that business leaders there do not attribute any specific gains by existing industry to the Romney administration, but it quoted William J. Bott, executive director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, as saying he feels Romney is "a missionary kind of guy" and his prestige is "helping put Michigan on the move."

Bott pointed to adoption of the state's new constitution as indicative that "Michigan is taking care of its own problems," but said it was his belief fiscal reform with built-in control of expenditures would "do more to change the image of Michigan than anything I can think of."

State Gets In Print

Managing director Donald D. Falk of L.H. Field Co., Jackson's largest department store, told the Citizen Patriot's Nick Gergacz:

"The (Romney) administration has done nothing at this point to give anybody a lift. Maybe we'll see gains if some of Romney's programs get going."

G. Boyd Vass, president of Hayes Industries Inc. of Jackson, said simply, "no," when asked whether Romney's administration had been of any direct benefit to industry.

Jackson bankers Ned A. Kilmer and Travis W. Pearce said there had been, in their opinions, a definite improvement in Michigan's business climate and business image, with Pearce adding:

"Romney is certainly a national figure and gets our state name in print all over and into discussions among people—and generally to the good."

The Monroe Evening News' H.W. Funk said generally industrialists he talked with felt Romney's administration had been beneficial to them, although they were unable to pinpoint the fields of definite improvement.

And Funk quoted one business leader as saying: "There's been no gain. His (Romney's) fiscal exchange program, if carried out, would cost us about 10 per cent more."

Fiscal Reform Essential

Industrialist Jim Robbins of Royal Oak, a Romney appointee to the Michigan Economic Advisory Council, told the Daily Tribune's Jim McClear he feels industry has benefited directly by the Romney administration.

"Businessmen have confidence in Romney," Robbins said. "They know that whatever comes up in the future will be fairly dealt with. We feel he understands problems of business and industry."

The state, however, "must get determination on fiscal reform, one way or another," Robbins continued, "so industry can know what to expect and make plans accordingly."

The Saginaw News said that its survey showed a majority believe that business and industry have benefited under Romney's administration.

The Midland Daily News said Dow Chemical Co. officials feel "there has not necessarily been a direct benefit to business or state industrial concerns from the Romney administration."

But the News quoted these same officials as adding: "The great benefit has been the indirect one of raising the level of the image of doing business in the state. While no law has passed during his administration directly benefitting business, the governor's office has gotten a closer friendship, a closer relationship with business."

Business Hopeful

Dow Corning Corp. spokesmen said at Midland that while no direct benefits had been realized from Romney's administration, businessmen expect further gains because the governor is aware that a different tax structure could make Michigan a better place for business.

A J.C. Penney executive at Midland said he feels the general business attitude toward Romney is not as good as 60 days ago, chiefly because of the governor's failure to win passage of his proposed tax reform program from the Republican-controlled legislature.

The News said it found a majority of Midland retailers didn't expect any further gains because of the Republican administration.

Business editor Bob Lewis of the Kalamazoo Gazette reported he found the feeling generally is that industry hasn't been hurt by Romney's administration, and may have been helped.

The Gazette quoted one businessman as saying the general business climate in Kalamazoo had improved under Romney, and another as commenting: "He has given us some degree of confidence."

F. Joseph Buckley, executive vice president of the Kalamazoo County Chamber of Commerce, however, was quoted as saying the Romney administration "hasn't helped a darn bit, except possibly it has improved the state's image in eyes of out-of-state industrial prospects."

Can America hold its lead?

Yes... if we train enough leaders for the job. Leaders are needed to keep us ahead in science and development... business and jobs... living standards.

Where do we get leaders? Colleges supply most of them. But the cost of leadership has gone up. Colleges feel the pinch. They need classrooms, laboratories, able teachers.

To help America, we must help our colleges. College is America's best friend.

HELP THE COLLEGE OF YOUR CHOICE NOW!

Holiday Turned Into Tragedy By Fire On Ship

LONDON (AP) — England bundled up against a cold snap as the 20,314-ton Greek liner Lakonia slipped out of Southampton, headed for Madeira, the Canary Islands—and sunshine—on a Christmas cruise.

An atmosphere of calm gentility and folksy cheer pervaded the ship as the 658 passengers—most of them British—and 369 crew, set out Dec. 18. Half the passengers had signed for the full 5-week voyage, paying up to $1,055. The rest were going to the islands.

It was to be a lazy, sunny Christmas. Breakfast in bed, tea in a tapestry-hung lounge. In the evening, they dressed for dinner.

On Friday, Dec. 20, the first day out, there was a boat drill. No one seems to remember exactly how it was conducted. The crew had been through a boat drill before sailing. Capt. Daniel Jones of the British Sea Transport Department was told by his inspectors that it was "very satisfactory." They did not conduct a formal inspection of the ship. It carried a Greek certificate of seaworthiness.

Parties Organized

Sunday, in one lounge the ship's social director had organized a party for young people—they came dressed as hobos. There was carol singing in another lounge, a movie in the third. Most older passengers had retired; Monday was to be a big day of sightseeing in Madeira.

Just before 11 p.m. a steward spotted smoke seeping under the doors of the ship's barber shop. He flung open the doors and fell back before flames.

The fire raced through passageways toward the state-rooms.

Capt. Mathios Zarbis, a veteran of 15 years with the Greek Line, was sitting in the main saloon. He raced toward the door.

Ivor S. Buchanan, an American, and his wife Dorothy had retired early. He pulled a suit over his pajamas. She put his coat over her slip. "What a hell of a time to have a fire drill," he thought.

In the radio room, operator

Alexis Kalogridis switched to the automatic emergency transmitter and began tapping out: "Fire spreading up. Prepare evacuation on ship." It was 11:30 p.m.

Panic And Heroism

At 22 minutes after midnight Kalogridis sent out the final, anguished call: "SOS from Lakonia last time. I cannot stay any more in the wireless station. We are leaving the ship. Please immediate assistance. Please help."

Then he dashed to the life-boat deck, already crowded with passengers and crew milling about in pajamas and anything they had thrown on. Some women still wore their jewels and evening gowns.

Whether the confusion merited the name of panic—as some passengers claimed—was a DETROIT (AP)—Funeral services for Bernard M. Karamon, a partner in the Idle Hour Hotel on Harsen's Island in Lake St. Clair for 14 years, will be held Saturday in Detroit. Karamon died Tuesday in a Detroit hospital.

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor and Mrs. Jerome Cavanagh, of Detroit, will attend the Chicago Bears-New York Giants National Football League championship game in Chicago Sunday as guests of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner. Cavanagh also said the meeting would include a discussion of "mutual problems" with the host mayors.

OUT OF BOUNDS?

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—For the first time in history, a Lutheran ordination has taken place in Geneva, stronghold of the 16th Century Calvinist reformation.

At the 256-year-old Lutheran church on Place du Bourg-de-Four, American Lutheran leader Dr. Franklin Clark Fry ordained Paul E. Hoffman, a staff member of the Lutheran World Federation with offices here.

matter of dispute. There were contrasting reports of heroism and hectic scrambling.

The swimming pool attendant tied a rope to his feet, had himself lowered head downward and pulled several children from smoke-filled cabins.

Buchanan and his wife got into a boat; another was almost lowered on top of it. Pressed against the windward side of the ship by swells, those aboard pushed the boat aft and rowed for the open sea.

Communication between passengers and the Greek and German crew broke down because of language difficulties. To M. R. Lovat of London the babbling was disgraceful—"the crew screamed their head off for five solid hours."

Smoke prevented the lowering of four boats. Others swamped in the swells. When the last boat was away, about 80 passengers and 40 crew members were still aboard. They huddled on the after deck all night, but as flames spread aft, they were ordered over the side. Gerd Punkrope, a purser, was in this group. He said most of those who perished probably were in it, too.

Captain In Tears

Last to leave was the captain. One passenger said she saw him wandering around with tears streaming down his face. The master of a Belgian freighter saw the captain pacing alone on the tilting deck and sent a boat to pick him up.

The flames that killed the Lakonia saved her passengers. Said Capt. Jose Barrere of the Argentine freighter Salta: "We got the wrong position and could have missed the Lakonia. But the fire guided us in like a lighthouse."

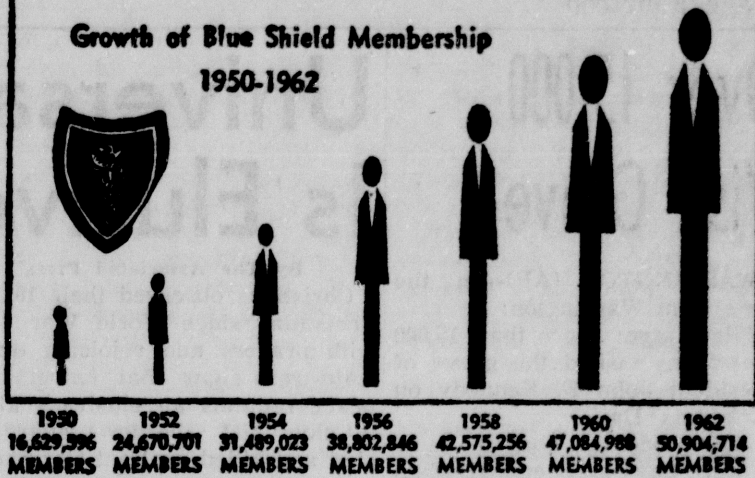

The Salta was the heroine of the sea drama. First on the scene, she picked up 475 survivors.

As dawn broke Monday, the Atlantic waters were crowded with rescue ships. The Lakonia was a drifting, burning ghost ship, a magnet for salvage tugs. The British aircraft carrier

Centaur put an engineer board by helicopter. He found the quarterdeck and two decks below burned away, and the superstructure caved in amidships. But the hull seemed sound and the ship ready for a refit.

The Lakonia's owners announced today that 896 persons were known to have been saved from the disaster. 89 were known dead and 42 still were not accounted for. This added to 1,027, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard the ship.

A spokesman for the line said some crew members had not turned up for the sailing from Southampton Dec. 19.

SHIELD OF SECURITY—Enrollment in the nation's Blue Shield plans topped the 50-million mark in 1962. This was more than one-fourth the total U.S. population. (Blue Shield, which sometimes goes by different names in various communities, provides surgical insurance while Blue Cross covers hospital expenses.) Among Blue Shield subscribers, about 3.5 million persons were 65 or over.

Over 15,000 Visit Grave

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: Pilgrimage: More than 15,000 Americans visited the grave of President John F. Kennedy on Christmas Day.

The procession began early in the day and ended when nightfall came to Arlington National Cemetery.

A six-inch mantle of snow lay on the cemetery. Fresh green pine boughs and floral tributes covered the late President's grave.

Neutrality: The United States is consulting its allies on the possibility of an East-West neutrality declaration on Cambodia.

This would be an alternative to the proposed Cambodian neutrality conference favored by the Cambodian head of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

State Department authorities say the danger in a conference is that it would lead to bitter recriminations and name-calling over conditions in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Police: Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have affirmed that chamber policy against collective bargaining between unions and government agencies extends to teachers organizations and public school board.

In a mail ballot the board members endorsed a statement that "determination of public school policies should be the responsibility solely of local public boards of education as authorized by state and local laws."

Briefly Told

An immunization clinic will be held Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Delta County Building.

Application for a marriage license was made Monday by Harlan D. LaPalm and Mary Lou Picard, both of Rockford, Ill.

A four-piece band entertained residents of Delta Nursing Home during the holiday weekend. The concert was under sponsorship of Recording Industries Trust Fund and Musicians Local Union 663.

Kenneth McNair of 610 N. 11th St., Gladstone, was given a summons by Gladstone City Police Tuesday morning for allowing his dog to run at large after the animal bit a Gladstone child. Police said that the dog bit the child, but the skin was not punctured.

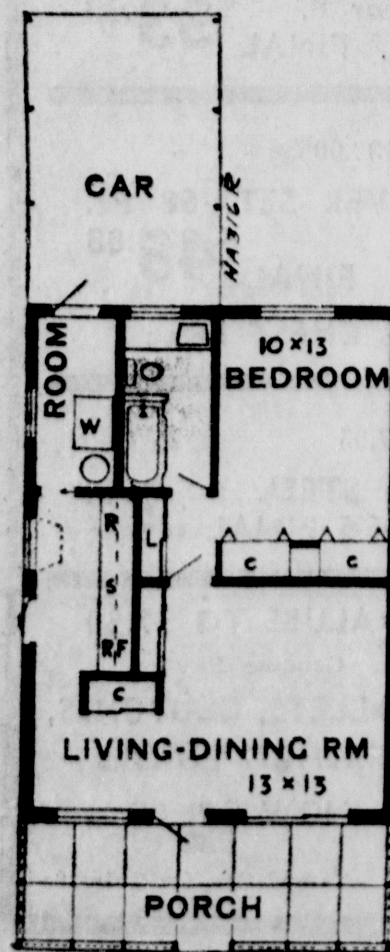

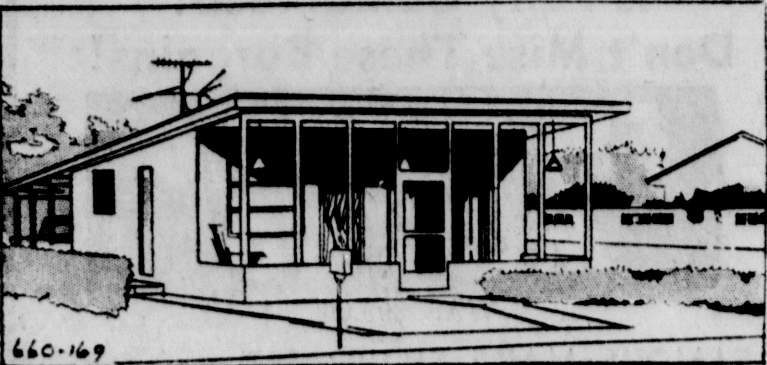

Gladstone City Police ticketed John A. Van de Wiele of 1227 Stephenson Ave. for failing to obey a stop sign.

Bank Call Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Friday, Dec. 20.

A similar call was issued by the Federal Reserve Board for member banks of the Federal Reserve system and by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for state banks which belong to the FDIC system.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Universal Peace Is Elusive Goal

By The Associated Press

Christians observed their 19th Christmas since World War II with prayers and rejoicing despite fresh signs that universal peace remains an elusive goal.

Communist border guards shot and killed an East German youth trying to escape over the Berlin wall while Red loudspeakers played Christmas music for more than 65,000 West Berliners pouring through the barrier into East Berlin.

Less than 200 miles from the land of Christ's birth, Greeks and Turks threatened to renew their civil war on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus. Two Turkish jet fighters buzzed the island providing additional fuel for what appeared to be an international crisis in the making.

Thousands Cheer Pope

In Cairo, the Egyptian press and radio reported the Arab world had warmly received President Gamal Abdel Nasser's plans for an Arab summit meeting to consider ways of preventing Israel from diverting waters of the Jordan River.

In South Viet Nam, fighting continued despite Communist proclamation of a 24-hour Christmas cease-fire.

Yet Christians still dreamed of peace as they marked the birth of the Prince of Peace.

In an act symbolic of Christ's concern for the humble, Pope Paul VI of the Roman Catholic Church celebrated Mass in a poor workers' section of Rome, heavily populated by Communists, and prayed at the bedside of a paralyzed woman.

Thousands cheered when he accepted the gift of a lamb, itself an offering of peace.

More than 10,000 pilgrims flocked to Bethlehem to worship in the Judean hillside town where Christ was born.

Ranch Warm

Along the icy truce line dividing North and South Korea, U.S. soldiers hoisted a huge electric sign toward the Communists saying "Merry Christmas." The Reds replied with Christmas carols and propaganda over their loudspeakers.

With much of the United States covered with snow, Americans at home enjoyed a

Cambodia Has Talks In Saigon

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The foreign ministers of Cambodia and South Viet Nam have opened talks in Saigon aimed at restoring diplomatic relations between the neighboring countries.

Neutralist Cambodia broke relations with South Viet Nam last August after President Ngo Dinh Diem's government raided Buddhist pagodas throughout Viet Nam. Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, is a Buddhist.

Cambodian Foreign Minister Huot Sambath arrived Tuesday heading a diplomatic team. The Vietnamese foreign minister, Pham Dang Lam, is expected to go to Cambodia later.

CAIRO (AP)—An Arab League spokesman says nine of the league's 13 members have accepted President Gamal Abdel Nasser's call for an anti-Israeli summit meeting in Cairo.

Nasser called for the meeting to consider the possibility of military action if Israel carries out its long-pending plan to divert waters of the Jordan River to irrigate the Negev Desert.

Nasser suggested the meeting be held Jan. 6, but a spokesman said the date had not been decided.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Ismet Inonu is back in power in Turkey, heading a minority Cabinet composed of 19 members of his Republican People's party and four independents.

Inonu's announcement Wednesday night that he had succeeded in forming a minority government ended a 23-day political crisis during which the opposition Justice party failed in an attempt to come up with a Cabinet.

Inonu resigned earlier this month.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported today that Somali students in Moscow had met to protest a demonstration last week by Ghanaian students and Western news reports of the demonstration.

Tass said the Somalis, at a meeting Wednesday, said the Ghanaian demonstration was carried out by "a small group of African students who made themselves obnoxiously notorious."

The Somalis, Tass continued, adopted a resolution saying that reports of the demonstration by Western newsmen were "designed to divert the attention of the peoples from the brutalities committed by the imperialists."

Airman Santa Does It Again

NORTH POLE (AP)—The noted North Pole airman, Santa Claus, completed his annual world tour, once again making the trip in one day despite his obsolete aircraft.

Santa had special permission from American officials to violate numerous regulations (flying at roof-top level, etc.). He also got clearance from the North American Air Defense Command. Otherwise, a missile might have made a mess of things.

Santa wouldn't talk about the flight, but he did say he'd try it again next year.

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev has wished Mao Tze-tung "good health and many years of life and success," saying he's confident the Soviet Union and Communist China will settle their ideological quarrel.

President Johnson said he just wanted to wish "Merry Christmas" to his predecessors.

thinks Ferency might make the best compromise candidate is Sen. Charles Blundy of Detroit, who recently relinquished his title as senate minority leader.

Many of Ferency's boosters argue the principal objection to Swainson is that he lost to Romney in the 1962 election, and many Democrats would prefer a new face on the political scene.

Ferency's detractors, however, say he has too much of a "labor image" because his victory at the state convention was scored with the active help of delegates tied in with the United Auto Workers Union.

On his way up the political ladder, Ferency served for four years with the Workmen's Compensation Department, as deputy director and then director. He also was on the Liquor Control Commission.

Swainson, about midway in his term as governor, brought in Ferency to be his executive secretary.

THREAT BRINGS ARREST—Russell W. McLarry, 21, was arrested on charges of threatening the life of President Kennedy shortly before his Dallas visit. McLarry, a night school student, insists the threats were a joke.

Schools Trying Cigarette Study

A teaching guide designed to discourage cigarette smoking by school children, will be given field trials in some 50 Michigan schools starting with the second semester early in 1964.

Thirty of the schools are located in the metropolitan area—nine in Detroit, nine in Dearborn, four in Melvindale, four in Lincoln Park and three in Warren. School officials in Jackson and Saginaw counties also are considering making the trials.

Stuart L. Openlander, Dearborn superintendent, and Richard D. Evans, Melvindale superintendent, agree that the guide is "very effective" in presenting accurate information about the effects of smoking to school children at various age levels.

Openlander and Evans were among the educators assembled at Wayne State University last summer to produce the guide. They believe that it will eventually become a standard item in the curriculum of every school in Michigan, possibly the United States.

The Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, one of the initial sponsoring agencies, used Christmas Seal funds to produce 1,000 copies of the guide for the field trials, developed after conferences last spring and summer.

The guide was produced because health experts and educators agreed that facts about smoking must be presented to youngsters at an early age to help them make their own decision to stay away from cigarettes.

Russian Family Ends U.S. Visit

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Nina Pozdnev is spending her last full day in the United States today, a little fearful of Friday's trip that will take her home to Moscow.

But her fears have nothing to do with politics or economics or any of the "ics" or "isms" that separate two nations.

Mrs. Pozdnev gets airsick, and, as she says, Moscow is a long way from Portsmouth.

Mrs. Pozdnev, a shy pleasant teacher, her husband, Victor, and their two children have been spending the Christmas holidays as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenzie and the city of Portsmouth. Their trip was sponsored by the Portsmouth Junior Chamber of Commerce as a project they call "Operation Peace on Earth."

Awaiting the Pozdnevs at their return home are days of wrapping packages, setting up and decorating a fir tree, visiting friends and celebrating a time of good cheer.

It will be the celebration of the new year, much in the same way Americans carry out the nonreligious aspects of Christmas.

But this year, the Pozdnev children, especially Olga, 6, also were paid a visit from Santa Claus. Beneath the large Christmas tree in the McKenzies' living room Christmas morning, Olga found three dolls, doll clothes and two pairs of shoes.

For Anatoly, 16, there was an American football and a miniature auto racing set. Pozdnev, an automotive engineer in Moscow, received shirts and ties. Presents for Mrs. Pozdnev included shoes, a coat and sweater.

For the McKenzie family there were records, caviar, books and toys.

Expressing her joy for the trip and how grateful she was for the friendliness of the people of Portsmouth, Mrs. Pozdnev also indicated a bit of homesickness.

"We Russians have a saying," she said. "To be guests, good; to go home, better."

Do-it-yourselfers looking for cold weather indoor projects might consider improving beat-up walls in neglected areas—stairway, stair landings, foyers.
Walls with their cracks, bumps and gouges are often rejected as projects when they are not in the living areas of the house. But these walls can be made an asset to the entire house and easily rejuvenated with a minimum of time and money.
Tearing out the entire wall is a big nuisance to the household, a dirty task for the do-it-yourselfer who must breathe in old plaster and a headache to the homemaker who must live with the mess. It is an expense no matter what course is pursued when a wall is torn out and replaced. New lath and even additional new studs often are required, insulation, plaster or plasterboard and taping and then the finish—paint or wall-covering—can chew up several hundred dollars.
An alternative that can be less expensive and eliminate the mess involves putting up either a finished plywood—walnut, teak, birch, etc.—or an ordinary plywood and then a finished decorative material to bring the cost down considerably. In addition, the handsome covering used can set a charm theme for the entire house.
An idea used by one well-known antiques buyer is a covering of deep gold burlap along the staircase wall of his little saltbox home and above the wainscoting of an attractive beamed living room.
The gold color is exactly right for his English antiques, paintings and other treasures and the cost of the material used was negligible.
The burlap was put up with a special adhesive and attached with staples at sides to establish evenness. This burlap is then coated with the adhesive before application.
Deep red is another effective staircase wall covering, with either contemporary or modern furnishings.
There are narrow and wide-striped tickings and more elegant fabric coverings—linens, brocades, grass cloth and moirés. There are vinyl laminated and coated burlaps that defy grubby hands. They are scrubable and scuff resistant. These permit the use of light colors and white on walls and stairways.
Wall paneling can upgrade old bumpy living room walls. A good rich finish can be achieved, too, by using a rich color above a wainscoting of warm-tone paneled wood.
Dark colors can flatter a small living room. If the proper balance is used—dark wood along with a rich color and light, bright accents, results can be truly amazing. The warmth of wood can help make the room cozier than any other decorating scheme.
This technique should be studied carefully before it is used. The proper textures and accent colors must accompany dark wood. Burlap is a good choice, providing the color chosen is an excellent choice for a small room, using yellow, vibrant blue or red paper or burlap above it. One is helped in the choice of this laminated burlap because colors available are beautiful. It is difficult to make a wrong decision, unless it is in the harmony of other furnishings in the room.

Fixing Things No Longer Fad

AP Newsfeatures
At least once a year, somewhere, somebody makes a speech or writes a magazine article about a diminishing interest in what he calls the do-it-yourself fad.
Don't you believe it. More persons are making or fixing things these days than at any time in the past. And since a fad is something which excites only passing attention, you can hardly call something a fad which began in the 1930s, moved into high gear in the '40s and has been going strong ever since.
Do-it-yourself, indulged in by a small percentage of the population as far back as you care to go, really came into its own during the depression. Everybody was searching for a way to economize. And even though help could be obtained in those days for small fees, householders did it themselves solely for the purpose of saving money.
When things began to get prosperous in the '40s, the necessity to cut financial corners was no longer urgent, but another obstacle arose. Most skilled workers were engaged in war-time activities of one sort or another, and it became difficult to get help at any price.
These days, a combination of factors has kept the average home owner doing-it-himself. He has learned the personal satisfaction of creating and fixing things. And he has discovered, from sad experience, that he can't always get professional help when he needs it. Longer weekends and holidays, plus shorter workdays, have combined to make the professional inaccessible at odd hours except in major emergencies.
Also to be considered in this area is the fact that it isn't easy to get a plumber or electrician or carpenter for a small job. The professionals may deny it, but you simply can not get a workman to give you as quick service on a job that will cost $5 as you can on one that will cost $75. The skilled worker is usually a busy individual these days and he can not spare the time to make a small repair at a small cost. He has to charge for his traveling time, usually referred to as a service charge, and he may feel that you will resent paying for more than just the labor and materials. It isn't his fault; it's merely, as Jimmy Durante puts it, that "those are the conditions that prevail."
It's not difficult to figure out, therefore, why so many persons are doing so many repair tasks around the house. Those who think do-it-yourself is slipping haven't talked to the manufacturers of materials and products used by the householder. They will all tell you — and show you figures to prove it — that the curve on the do-it-yourself chart is still going up.

You Can Fix Beat-Up Walls

AP Newsfeatures
Do-it-yourselfers looking for cold weather indoor projects might consider improving beat-up walls in neglected areas—stairway, stair landings, foyers.
Walls with their cracks, bumps and gouges are often rejected as projects when they are not in the living areas of the house. But these walls can be made an asset to the entire house and easily rejuvenated with a minimum of time and money.
Tearing out the entire wall is a big nuisance to the household, a dirty task for the do-it-yourselfer who must breathe in old plaster and a headache to the homemaker who must live with the mess. It is an expense no matter what course is pursued when a wall is torn out and replaced. New lath and even additional new studs often are required, insulation, plaster or plasterboard and taping and then the finish—paint or wall-covering—can chew up several hundred dollars.
An alternative that can be less expensive and eliminate the mess involves putting up either a finished plywood—walnut, teak, birch, etc.—or an ordinary plywood and then a finished decorative material to bring the cost down considerably. In addition, the handsome covering used can set a charm theme for the entire house.
An idea used by one well-known antiques buyer is a covering of deep gold burlap along the staircase wall of his little saltbox home and above the wainscoting of an attractive beamed living room.
The gold color is exactly right for his English antiques, paintings and other treasures and the cost of the material used was negligible.
The burlap was put up with a special adhesive and attached with staples at sides to establish evenness. This burlap is then coated with the adhesive before application.
Deep red is another effective staircase wall covering, with either contemporary or modern furnishings.

Nurseries, Catalogues Boon To Rose Growers

Looking to 1964 and all the sparkling new roses and brilliant new colors the new year will usher in, the rosarian may well start to think about a return to the rose garden.

The best way to begin is by gathering as many facts and illustrations on all the new varieties, as well as on some of the favored older kinds, and then make your choice.

You don't have to search far for sources of information. You can turn to the local nurseries and the rose catalogues which have done most of the leg work.

Local nurserymen and garden centers are storehouses of reliable information. They have illustrations of all the new introductions, including the All-America winners for 1964, Granada and Saratoga, as well as the essential facts on how they will grow in the garden. Many of these shops provide landscape service and can give expert advice and local recommendations. Some make catalogues and other literature available for you to study and plan with at your leisure.

Free For Asking
The mail-order nurseries specializing in roses offer their new 1964 Spring catalogues, free for the asking. These books remain one of the main-

Five Christmas Day Babies At St. Francis

A daughter, Mary Rose, third child of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Madalinski of Wells, who weighed 7 pounds and 1 ounce at birth at 7:45 a. m. Irene Moraski is the mother's maiden name.

A daughter, Penny Lynn Marie, who is the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Jacques, 302 S. 16th St. The infant was born at 1:53 p. m., and weighed 7 pounds and 8 ounces. Mrs. Jacques was Mary Forton before her marriage.

A son, Robert Lee, born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lohfink, 220 N. 11th St., at 6:42 p. m. The baby is their fourth child and his weight at birth was 7 pounds and 5 ounces. Mrs. Lohfink is the former Joanne Roberts.

The first child of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald R. Vogt, 802 S. 17th St., a son, Christopher Frank, was born Dec. 24 at 11:14 a. m. His weight at birth was 8 pounds and 7 ounces. Mrs. Vogt is the former Jacqueline Heimerl.

stays in gardening. They are still favored by millions of rosarians for their shopping convenience and the immeasurable help their pages are crammed with.

Though these elaborate publications still may be called catalogues, they have really outgrown the term. They are about as different from the catalogues of yesteryear as the roses of grandma's day they depicted are to today's scientific triumphs. Today the catalogue is an indispensable planning guide and reference work.

Far from mere price lists, they furnish answers to virtually any question about roses, old or new. They review all the vital statistics from price, growing habits height and fragrance, right down to petal count, size of bud and bloom and concise color characteristics.

Leafing through the catalogue, a backyard gardener can take a vivid tour of more than a hundred different varieties of roses, all shown in full color. The illustrations are faithful and accurate, which makes the choice of color and type you're looking for almost effortless.

Prize Winners
Like the local nursery, the catalogues will feature the introductions for the new year, with a special spotlight on the 1964 AARS winners. Debuting are Granada, a blazing nasturtium scarlet and lemon yellow hybrid tea, and Saratoga, a versatile and brilliant pure white floribunda. Both of these prize-winners are remarkably fragrant.

There are a host of other rewards to be enjoyed from the catalogues. The commercial nurseryman has helped take some of the guesswork out of your gardening with hand-picked fragrance collections, All-America assortments and vibrant color collections. Most of the books also give tips on planting and culture practices and ideas on solving your landscaping problems.

As valuable as these guides are, for the most part they remain free for the asking. A postal card to any mail-order nursery will bring a copy to your doorstep.

Mrs. Jack Ralph Shiner (Gordon Nelson Photo)

Judith Lee Petersen Bride Of Jack Shiner

First United Presbyterian Church in Escanaba was the setting for the wedding of Judith Lee Petersen and Jack Ralph Shiner. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. Douglas Seelen Saturday, Dec. 21 at 2 p. m. and was followed by a reception from 4 to 8 in the Eagles Hall.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Petersen, 1804 5th Ave. S., Escanaba, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Shiner, 1205 Minneapolis Ave., Gladstone.

The bride, escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie and Brussels lace, fashioned with a pearl trimmed Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The lace bodice was cinched smoothly in a cummerbund effect. The full skirt of peau de soie, with front and back lace panels, extended into a chapel sweep. A Swedish crown of pearls and sequins held her bouffant veil of imported English silk illusion. She wore a pearl necklace, her bridegroom's gift, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations and red garnet roses with ivy foliage.

Matron of honor was Mrs.

Richard McHenry, the former Sharon LaCarte, and bridesmaids were Sally Hanson and Cheryl Peterson. Their dresses featured red velvet sleeveless bodices and full skirts of white brocade. They wore matching red bow hats with veiling, long white gloves and red shoes, matching the gowns. Their pearl necklaces were the bride's gift. Their flowers were nosegays of red and white carnations with deep green foliage.

In the holiday color theme of the wedding, the two little flower girls, the Jenshak twins, Diane and Donna, were in red velvet frocks with white trim. Their white gloves were wrist length and they also carried red and white carnation nosegays with green foliage. Ronald Jenshak carried the rings on a white satin pillow with red tassel and white lace trim.

Best man was the bride's brother, Craig A. Petersen. Groomsmen were David Larson of Gladstone and Clarence Shiner, brother of the bridegroom, who came from California for the wedding. The guests were seated by Mack Sullivan and Robert Klaus.

Mrs. Petersen attended her daughter's wedding and greeted guests in a two piece suit.

Ann Landers

Notes Filthy

Dear Ann Landers: I, for one, am mighty bored with the women who are sure their husbands are playing around with their secretaries.

I've been a Girl Friday for 23 years and have known hundreds of secretaries. I can guarantee that there's a great deal less hanky-panky going on in offices than the busy-bodies would have you believe. If the wives of some of these great big round wheels only knew what their secretaries thought of their husbands they wouldn't worry so much. — THE OL' LEVELER

Dear Leveler: You sound like the Voice of Authority. I'll take your word for it. I think.

Dear Ann Landers: I am not a snoop. In fact I've gone out of my way to avoid prying because I know how teen-agers hate it.

Something happened yesterday, however, that just made me sick. I need your advice on what to do.

I was straightening up my daughter's room and came upon some scattered pieces of note paper. I didn't want to throw out anything of value, so I began to read. Before I realized it I discovered I was reading an exchange of notes between my daughter and a boy friend.

In my whole life I never read anything so vulgar. The words that appeared in the notes were downright filthy.

Is this something new — passing dirty notes back and forth right in school? Perhaps I lived a sheltered life but I don't remember anything like this when I went to high school. I don't want her to think I snooped but I can't get it out of my mind.

Pleased advise me. — DISTRESSED

Dear Distressed: There's nothing new about this — not even the words.

Confront your daughter with the notes and tell her, not in a critical or scolding tone, but rather as a friend, that girls who use vulgar language or permit boys to talk to them in gutter terms merit cheap and common reputations. Let her know that if this is the image she is striving for she is on the right track.

Dear Ann Landers: I usually agree with you but I think you were off base in your reply to the wife whose husband wanted to go hunting with the boys on their wedding anniversary. You said, "His choice shows him to be a self-centered little boy — but let him go anyway."

It seems to me that if his wife had insisted he stay home with her merely because it was their anniversary, then she would be a "self-centered little girl."

If the hunting season were several weeks long, then I would agree with you. But it only lasts a couple of weeks, and the hunters have to hunt when the law says they can.

Don't you think you were a little brash, Ann? It would be mighty noble of you to accept 10 raps on the noggin with the butt of a deer rifle. — DEER FRIEND

Dear Deer: If it's all the same to you, Buster, I'd rather take five taps with a duck feather.

A girl who goes with a hunter would be wise to look to the future and select a wedding date which will not coincide with the hunting season. I recommend the Fourth of July. (Then he can go fishing.)

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" (2.95), is now available at your book store. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother Killed In 2-Car Wreck

KENDALLVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A Michigan woman was killed in a two-car collision Wednesday that also injured her husband and 11-year-old daughter. Killed in the crash at the crest of a hill about 10 miles west of here was Mrs. Helen Stanger, 45, of Stevensville. Her husband, Otis, 50, who was driving, and their daughter Susan were listed in fair condition at a local hospital.

U.P. Region's Winter Resorts Beckon Skiers

Quantities of snow in the early winter season is bringing cheer to the hearts of ski resort operators in the Upper Peninsula, who are looking forward to one of the best winter sports years in history.

The region has everything it takes for success, including continuing development of ski and winter sports facilities from Ironwood to the Soo and Suicide Hill at Ishpeming to "family type" hills at Gladstone and Escanaba.

Deep snow and bitter cold are just what the skiers are ordering — and they never get too much of it.

Years of winter hibernation in the recreation business of the Upper Peninsula are hopefully at an end. The week-long and weekend winter sports business is viewed as one of the bonus business factors encouraging the U. P. economy.

For thousands of ski enthusiasts the warm Florida beaches hold no wintertime charm. They turn their faces to the north country for a week or a weekend on the hills and return to the cities with wind-burned noses and renewed energy.

Most come by car, others by bus and train, and some by plane.

There are 85 winter sports areas in Michigan, 15 of them in the Upper Peninsula. The Automobile Club of Michigan reports.

Gladstone's Ski Park is among them, and is rated one of the finest for those who want a variety of wintertime fun for the family. The many hills and slopes give just the right course and condition for the various skills of the skiers and in addition sliding with sleds and toboggans is enjoyed by non-skiers.

Escanaba's ski park on the west side of the city in the Danforth hills area has been much improved in recent years with the cooperation of the city and the devoted work of Thor Papineau. Slopes have been opened to accommodate more skiers and the access road is improved.

Ski tows are part of the facilities at both Gladstone and Escanaba.

The list of ski resorts in the U. P. is impressive and includes some of the finest facilities in the state. Some are within or near cities, others are to the south, and still others are in the wilderness.

One of the finest in the Middle West, Pine Mountain at Iron Mountain, scene of championship events: Ishpeming's Winter Sports Park and Suicide Hill.

Others include Mont Ripley, Mt. Zion, Brule Mountains, Cliffs Ridge Ski Resort, Big Valley, Bruce's Hill, and the Al Quaal Recreation Area.

Street Camera Bares Peeves

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A perennial journalistic device particularly loved by television is the "man on the street interview." Allen Funt, the indefatigable practical joker of "Candid Camera" has now attempted to turn the device into a comedy program.

"Tell It to the Camera" as the show is called, made its debut as a midseason replacement on CBS Wednesday night and proved something less than a barrel of laughs.

Funt crews in such spots as New York and Washington invited the public to face their cameras and tell the world about their pet peeves, favorite food, their own opinion of their looks and other concerns.

Most of the respondents were self-conscious, smirking and thoroughly unimaginative. But there were a few surprise spots here and there.

One woman announced that her pet gripe was "coat hangers, because they tangled up like a nest of snakes."

Funt's other CBS show, "Candid Camera" has sometimes been criticized on the ground that it traps people into making fools of themselves. Funt at least proves in this show that people don't have to be snared—they volunteer for the assignment.

Baboon Kidneys Save Patient, 40

DENVER (AP) — One week after he received the kidneys of a baboon in a transplant operation, a 40-year-old man was listed in satisfactory condition today.

The man, whom hospital officials declined to identify, underwent the first such operation in medical history.

A team of surgeons from the U. S. Veterans Hospital here and Colorado Medical Center performed the transplant.

Miss Vanderbilt Weds Her Fourth

Girl, 9, Survives Ice Show Fire

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Barbara Staten is a pitiful orphan who paid with pain for her Christmas present—life itself.

The 9-year-old child clung to life for 47 days while battling burns suffered in the Halloween explosion at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Added to the physical drain of third-degree burns over 35 per cent of her body was a stunning emotional shock. The explosion toll of 73 dead included her mother, father, grandmother and brother. All that remains of the family is Barbara and her 15-year-old brother, John.

One of John's last pre-Christmas visits to Barbara's hospital room was to watch a television performance of Holiday on Ice — the same show which played at the Coliseum Oct. 31.

The Staten family was sitting in box seat Section 13, which was hurled into the air by the explosion in a concession room under the concrete arena.

Killed outright were Dr. Jesse C. Staten, 50, Barbara's father and a General Motors Corp. plant physician here; his wife, Mary, 46, and his mother, Mrs. Lena Staten, 70, Greencastle.

Barbara, John and David Staten, 14, were injured — and David died 24 hours later.

Last Tuesday Barbara was taken off the critical list at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Barbara was told Dec. 9 that her parents won't be waiting when she goes home from the hospital.

Mrs. Dorothy Oliver, a private nurse, said the little girl cried for about an hour after she was told her parents were dead "but now she's accepted it."

LELAND W. CARR, above, a 17-year veteran of the Michigan Supreme Court who last year became Chief Justice, has announced his retirement. (AP Wirephoto)

MRS. DOROTHY SHIPMAN, Manistique resident who is librarian at Adrian College stands in the doorway of the college library named for her.

Mrs. Shipman Up For Retirement

A native Manistique resident, and long-time librarian is here for the holidays — home from a library which bears her name at Adrian College.

Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Middlebrook, plans to retire in August, after 42 years in library service. She was librarian here 32 years before going to Adrian 10 years ago.

The Shipman library has a capacity of 125,000 volumes. It is 181 x 131 feet, of modular construction with Indiana limestone. The building has a north-facing exposure on campus and its interior is in jewel tones of red, blue and green.

A large conference room, paneled in oak, houses a collection of Methodist historical works. Two smaller conference rooms, a large processing room and an office in blue and green for Mrs. Shipman are included. The finished wood upstairs uses gunstock walnut, and stacks are autumn-gold hammered metal.

Mrs. Shipman, once called "The Christmas Lady" here because of story hours and her interest in the holiday, is mailing Christmas cards this year with a picture of her office on them. She announced her retirement plans at a faculty dinner this month and plans to return to her Manistique home afterwards.

The holder of a master of library science degree, Mrs. Shipman attended Wells College, Aurora-on-Cayuga, N. Y., and the University of Michigan. Her postgraduate work was at the University of Illinois and Ferris Institute.

In earlier years Mrs. Shipman regularly traveled to unusual places and timed her trips so high spots occurred on the Fourth of July. The trips included a summer in Russia, another touring Europe by bus and another by boat and train. The Passion Play at Oberammergau was among high spots. One Fourth of July she was on the Gulf of Alaska; twice she was on the ocean and once in a jeep going to Coffee Finca in Guatemala. There was a time the Fourth came as she was riding a horse to King Christophe citadel, in the highest mountain of Haiti.

This was one of two times Mrs. Shipman rode a horse or a mule. The other was a mule-trip down Bright Angel Trail in the Grand Canyon. Another summer and Fourth of July took her to the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky. Islands she has visited include Guatemala, Haiti and Jamaica. Alaska, Labrador and Mexico have been part of her itineraries.

After the trips Mrs. Shipman gave talks on them, and illustrated with pictures. She has collected much program material, which she provides for teachers for holidays such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, Halloween, Easter, Mother's Day and others.

Two bound volumes are included in her publications, one, an anthology entitled "Stardust and Holly," published by MacMillan Co., in the 1930s which went to four printings. The other, "Christmas Recitations," considered good but Mrs. Shipman feels though it has some good material it is "un-inspired."

Publication of "Stardust and Holly," was a good adventure for Mrs. Shipman and with its earnings she "bought my first Buick." She is "proudest" of the anthology. The plates were used in the drive for metal during World War II, as it was considered a seasonal book. She did not protest the government action.

Known for her ability to write "jingles" at the drop of a hat, she attributes her poetic ability to "a trick I inherited from my father."

Mrs. Shipman reads well in German and has some ability in Spanish and French. She likes swimming too, as well as travel.

Story Hours
When she returns to Manistique she will probably just "catch her breath," as she has been busy moving into the new library, dedicated in November. Dr. John H. Dowson, president of the college presided at the rite, for which Mrs. Shipman gave the dedication address.

The library, gift of an anonymous benefactor is one of 13 new buildings erected in recent years. A highlight is a bronze equestrian statue of Abraham Lincoln, reading as he rode. It was presented by the eminent sculptress, Anna Hyatt Huntington. During the dedication two flags were presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. Shipman is a member.

When Mrs. Shipman was librarian here, she started a story hour program for children, which first outgrew the library, then the auditorium and finally the gymnasium. The number became so large the program was discontinued, she recalls.

For her travel writing, Mrs. Shipman received two international awards. She also has another feat on which she has been working — with excellent health, she hasn't missed a day of work since 1937.

Approaches on Brooklyn side of Verrazano-Narrows Bridge cut wide swathe through Fort Hamilton area. Towers soar 690 feet, higher than most Manhattan skyscrapers; underwater foundations are sunk as deep as 170 feet. Bridge will have two six-lane levels, but only one will be used at first. Eventually the bridge is expected to handle 48 million cars a year.

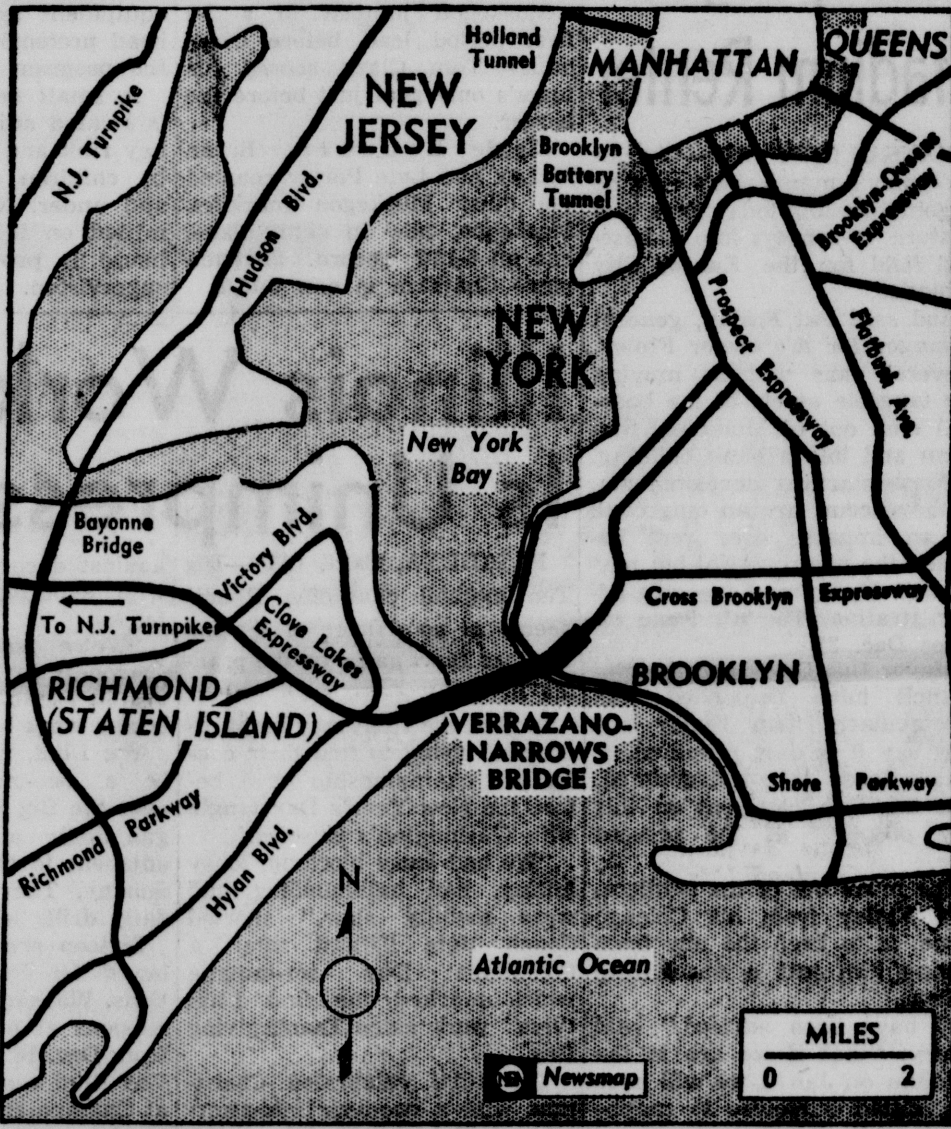

Next stage, after towers, is stringing 145,000 miles of steel wire—which took three years to make—for the four great suspension cables. "Spinning wheel" top photo, passes 1/5-inch-diameter wire from one anchorage, across saddles in towers, to other anchorage. Wires are bound in 61 subgroups. Total wires: 26,108; weight: 38,000 tons. Wires are then compacted, bottom, into one cable three feet thick, which is itself wrapped in protective wire. From four such cables, 51,000 tons of roadway structure will be suspended.

Final construction phase begins with the raising of the keystone section of the suspended roadway into place 228 feet above the water. Other units, positioned by barges, will follow. They will be bolted together at first, eventually welded. Pouring of concrete roadbed will take three months.

The Greatest Bridge That Was Ever Built

When the soaring Verrazano-Narrows Bridge opens for traffic late in 1964, it will stand as one of man's greatest engineering triumphs. By any measurement, it is the biggest bridge in the world. Length of the main span from tower to tower is 4,260 feet, 60 feet longer than San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, 460 feet longer than the Mackinac Bridge and nearly three times as long as the Brooklyn Bridge, the granddaddy of suspension bridges. The $325 million structure is named for Giovanni da Verrazano, an Italian explorer who discovered New York harbor in 1524. The bridge marks the realization of a long dream—uniting Staten Island with the rest of New York.

Map shows relation of Verrazano-Narrows Bridge to Greater New York area. It will provide a direct, fast route, by-passing Manhattan, between New Jersey and Long Island and be the first vehicular link between the Borough of Richmond (Staten Island) and her four sister N. Y. boroughs.

JOEY WILL WALK AGAIN!

Joey has a tough fight ahead of him. It won't be easy. It won't happen overnight. But it will happen, because Joey is going to have plenty of help . . . from the doctors, the staff, and the modern hospital close to home.

Fifty years ago you wouldn't have given a plugged nickel for Joey's chances to run and play. Hospitals have come a long way since then . . . new discoveries in drugs, new advances in medical equipment, new technical knowledge to knock out dread diseases.

Naturally, progress like this costs money . . . and lots of it. That's why hospital services, like everything else you buy today, cost more. But then they're worth so much more to you than ever before. If you need proof, just ask the parents of a little boy named Joey.

Modern hospitals mean so much to you and your family!

Your community hospitals provide more health for your money than ever before.

TB Drugs Lack Kayo Punch

The "big wallop" administered by drugs against tuberculosis has waned in strength and this lumbering giant of human diseases is weathering the punch.

Dreams of conquest of TB following discovery of drugs in the early 50's are dimming. The fact of life is that tuberculosis is here to stay for a long time, that in Michigan and throughout the nation, goals for reducing this costly public health enemy are not being met.

This was the report made "with regret" today by J. Irvin Nichols, executive director of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, state Christmas Seal agency, on the basis of statistics from the Michigan Department of Health.

In the 50's, after the introduction of three drugs—streptomycin, isoniazid, and para-aminosalicylic acid—TB deaths per year in the state diminished from 1,270 in 1950 to 332 in 1961 and new cases discovered from 5,538 to 3,838 in the same 11-year period.

"As a result, an illusion distorted the picture, gave rise to false hopes that tuberculosis, like poliomyelitis, had been brought to its knees," Nichols said.

"But in the three-year-period now ending, tuberculosis has settled in an obstinate pattern of resistance to known methods of detection and treatment. This is true not only in Michigan, but throughout the nation, and in New York City specifically, there has been a marked increase in the new TB cases discovered."

Holiday Cage Tournaments Get Under Way Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It didn't make a real big splash back in the early 30s when the first holiday college basketball tournament was organized, but the idea did catch on.

It caught on so well, in fact, that the grand-daddy of them all, the All-College in Oklahoma City, is now over-shadowed by many of the nearly half a hundred tournaments that have sprung up across the country during the holiday season.

The 27th All-College is one of eight major tournaments that open play today as the vast tournament schedule hits full stride. A handful was completed last week. At least 13 others open Friday and another Saturday. Still others don't begin play until next week.

Los Angeles Classic
Probably the biggest one of them all this season is the Los Angeles Classic, which includes three of the nation's top-ranked teams—Michigan, UCLA and New York University—in its classy field of eight.

The other big ones include the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., where defending champion and ninth-ranked Oregon State is the team to beat; the Big Eight at Kansas City, with tough Oklahoma State possibly the class; and the Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, featuring Minnesota, Utah, Dayton and Villanova in a field of eight.

The others opening today include the WCAC at San Francisco, the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

Wichita, a former champion and sporting a 6-2 record, is top-seeded in the old All-College, with Wyoming, Oklahoma City and Texas A&M the top challengers.

Co-Favorites
Defending champion UCLA and Michigan, touted as the class of the Big Ten, are the co-favorites in the Los Angeles Classic. Each is 6-0; Michigan No. 3 in the country and UCLA No. 4.

NYU, sporting such talent as All-America Barry Kramer and equally dangerous Happy Hairston, is ranked 10th in the country and must be considered a definite threat. The Violets, however, have had their troubles in the last three games, their record slipping to 4-2.

The luck of the draw, however, has Michigan matched with NYU in a first-round game and the winner going against UCLA, providing the Bruins are successful in their opener against Yale, 4-1. Semifinals are scheduled Friday, the finals Saturday.

In addition to Michigan-NYU and UCLA-Yale, the other first round games have West Virginia, 5-3, vs. Illinois, 3-2 and Pittsburgh, 3-2, vs. Southern California, 3-3.

Beavers Are 7-1
Oregon State has won all of the previous seven Far West Classics and fully intends to do it again. The Beavers go into it with a 7-1 record, the No. 9 ranking in the country and 7-foot Mel County. Their biggest threat appears to be Seattle, unbeaten in six.

Utah and Dayton each are unbeaten and each bucking for a national ranking, but tough Minnesota, 5-2, may be the team to beat in the Holiday Festival in New York. Utah is 8-0, Dayton 7-0. Villanova, 6-1, tops the five Eastern representatives.

The first round, all today, has St. John's, N.Y., vs. Utah; Villanova vs. Dayton; Cornell vs. Minnesota and St. Joseph's, Pa., vs. Providence.

The Queen City and Gator Bowl both are four-team affairs. The Queen City offers DePaul vs. Canisius and Xavier, Ohio vs. Miami, Ohio, while the Gator has Air Force against Florida State and Manhattan against Florida.

Muskegon Beats Canadian Team

MUSKEGON (AP)—Ken Campbell's two goals sparked Muskegon to a 5-1 International Hockey League victory over Chatham, Ont., Wednesday night.

Muskegon jumped to a 3-0 first period lead before Chatham's Tom Clark scored his team's only goal just before the buzzer.

Claude Boucher, Bryan McLay and Lyle Porter counted the other Muskegon markers. Muskegon, now in sixth place, has an 8-13-2 record. Seventh-place Chatham is now 6-15-2.

Junior Hockey Sign-Up Time

Registration for the Junior hockey program will begin Saturday at the hockey rink adjacent to the water tower. Registration will be held from 9 a. m. through 12 noon and also from 1 p. m. through 5 p. m. Registration will be held also on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. All boys 9 years of age through 17 years of age are asked to sign up for the hockey program during the times listed.

The hockey program will again be under the direction of George Petaja, a veteran hockey player and coach for many years. Petaja stated that the Recreation Department would like to organize three leagues: Midget Division for boys 9 years through 11 years of age; Juvenile Division for boys 12 through 14 years of age; and Junior division for boys 15 through 17 years of age.

The first week will be devoted to organization of teams and practice sessions. Boys coming into the program will be coached in the fundamentals of hockey and will see plenty of action when league play begins. All boys signing up for the program will be placed on a team in their respective age group and will play in every game.

The new outdoor hockey rink is regulation size 85 x 200 feet. The ice surface is well lighted along with a heated shelter house and supervision provided for the boys playing in the program. The City Recreation Department furnishes all equipment for the goalies and head protectors for all boys in the program when playing.

A small neighborhood rink is located adjacent to the hockey rink and is used primarily by children 12 years of age and under. No hockey is permitted on this rink. A shelter house is provided along with supervision.

Former Prep Stars Clash Here Tonight

The sixth annual Holiday Basketball Classic will be staged tonight at the Holy Name High School gymnasium. Teams composed of former stars from Holy Name and Escanaba High School will clash for the Holy Name Scholarship Fund. All proceeds of the game are turned over to the scholarship fund for Holy Name graduates. Some of the finest athletes in the history of the two schools will be back in action on the court tonight.

The Escanaba lineup includes such former standouts as John Olson, John Fisher, Phil Davidson, Barry Andrews, Mickey Moses, Jack Lindquist, Bill Bolm, Dennis Wilbee and Tom Butler.

Coaching the team will be Don Scott, himself a former star Eskymo athlete.

Seeing action for Holy Name will be Jim Trotter, Gary Severinsen, Terry McDonough, Bill LeClair, Denny McGinn, George Milkovich, Dave Mickiewicz, Tim LeMire, Dick Burroughs, Pete Fregetto, Terry Derouin and Dave Sullivan. Bob Dufour is the coach.

The Holy Name athletes will be seeking to snap Escanaba's five game victory string in the series. Escanaba has never been beaten in the holiday classic.

The action will open at 7 with a game between teams from the Grade School league. The main attraction will begin at 8.

Providing entertainment at halftime will be by the Nomads of Holy Name High School who will lead the audience in a Hootenany.

There has been no advance sale of tickets but members of the Holy Name Scholarship committee expect a large crowd tonight. Tickets will be available at the door.

Black Hawks Down Montreal

By The Associated Press
The Chicago Black Hawks' success formula this season has been to beat their closest pursuers and build up a lead in the National Hockey League.

The pursuers, in this case, have been the Montreal Canadiens, and the Black Hawks have done an efficient job in turning them back when the occasion warranted.

Chicago whipped Montreal 3-1 Wednesday night for the fifth time this season and opened up a six-point lead over the runner-up Canadiens. Montreal has defeated the Hawks only once and two games have ended in ties.

In other games Wednesday night, the Toronto Maple Leafs trimmed the Boston Bruins 5-1 and the Detroit Red Wings edged the New York Rangers 4-3.

Statistics Give Edge To Giants But Who Knows?

CHICAGO (AP)—When the final whistle sounds at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon, ending the championship struggle of National Football League powers New York and Chicago, the question of the irresistible force and the immovable object should be answered.

Until then, the question is: which will be the deciding factor, the Giants' irresistible force—Y. A. Tittle—or the Bears' immovable object—their defense?

The talking game has been played on practice fields and in locker rooms since the Bears won the Western Division and the Giants were triumphant in the Eastern Division. Coaches have moved their pawns in an effort to gain prestige and about $6,000 per man, (the winner's share) one attempting to solve the Bears' defense, the other figuring ways to halt Tittle's passing.

Statistics appear to favor the Giants. New York has outscored the Bears 448-301 over 14 regular season games. The Giants have two runners in Phil King and Joe Morrison, who have outgained any Bear by more than 100 yards. Tittle was the league's leading passer this season, and out-did Bear quarterback Billy Wade in statistics. End Del Shofner of the Giants caught 64 passes.

But while the Bears lost only once, the Giants' took it on the nose three times.

Tittle will be faced with what some consider the best pass defense in professional football.

If the field is dry—and the Bears are using all sorts of connivances to assure that it will be—the battle between the 37-year-old Tittle and the Bear secondary could be a classic.

Four defensive halfbacks—Rich Petitbon, Rosey Taylor, Dave Whitsett and Benny McRae—combined to steal 29 enemy passes during the NFL season.

Giant blowers are fanning hot air on the field and tons of hay have been spread on the ground to help footing. Tarpaulins cover the ground when the blowers are silent.

Findley Fights Stadium Renter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charles O. Findley's man Friday says he is going hunting today for a cow pasture to convert into a baseball field for the Kansas City Athletics.

And said Pat Friday, general manager for A's owner Findley, movers' vans will be moving the tangible assets of the baseball club out of Municipal Stadium and into a bank building.

These startling developments, if they occur, are an outgrowth of an impasse over rent between the controversial but never dull Findley and the city administration. The A's lease expires Dec. 31.

Mayor Irlus Davis and the city council have responded less spectacularly than Findley but they say it is only practical, if a new lease is not negotiated, that the club pay rent on this city property at the present rate.

The move out of the stadium, said Findley from his Chicago home, is to keep the city from getting him into a negotiating corner.

"I have been advised," said Findley, "that if we are in the stadium on Jan. 1 we will have committed ourselves to maybe another four-year lease or at least a one-year lease."

Illinois Workout Is Unimpressive

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Big Ten football champion Illinois seems in no danger of leaving its Rose Bowl game on the practice field.

In fact, the Illini may be hard-pressed trying to find their conference championship form before the New Year's Day tangle with Washington's Huskies.

"We had lousy blocking, lousy hitting, bad ball-handling and were awfully slow," snorted Coach Pete Elliott after a Christmas Day scrimmage which marked the first Illini "live" work since Thanksgiving Day.

The Illini celebrated Christmas with a two-hour mid-afternoon drill highlighted by a 30-minute offensive scrimmage against deep reserves equipped with expected Washington defenses.

"We're not close to game sharpness by any means," said Elliott, whose Illini started drills here a week behind the Huskies.

The Illini, rated approximately a one-touchdown favorite over the Big Six champions, began drills at Brookside Park adjacent to the Rose Bowl last Sunday. They have five single daily drills left.

Sixteen practice days are allowed for Rose Bowl preparations. Washington had two-day sessions at nearby Long Beach from Dec. 16 until last weekend. The Illini worked out five days at Champaign, Ill., before arriving here Saturday, but sub-zero weather kept them indoors.

Staubach Eager For Bowl Clash

DALLAS (AP)—"It is the chance of a lifetime," said Roger Staubach.

The top college player of the year was speaking of the Cotton Bowl football game his Navy team will play with Texas next Wednesday.

Staubach quarterbacked the Navy team that had a 9-1 season, was picked as No. 2 in the nation and given the opportunity of playing national champion Texas.

The tall, handsome Heisman Trophy winner and All-America on everybody's team, flew into Dallas Wednesday night. He was with the advance guard as the Middles assembled at the site of the Cotton Bowl game to start the final stage of their training.

"We are looking forward to this game with great anticipation," said Staubach. "I am sure Texas players feel the same way, that it is an opportunity that comes only once in a lifetime."

Roger was a trifle grim as he expressed confidence in Navy's ability to beat Texas and lay an unofficial claim to the national championship.

He said he saw Texas against Oklahoma, watched Texas on television when it beat Texas A&M to wind up a perfect season and also studied the Longhorns in game films.

Coming in with Staubach were Tom Lynch, center and captain, and Pat Donnelly, the fullback.

Lynch said Navy had played every game well, even the one it lost 32-28 to Southern Methodist. "If we were 0-10 and I had to watch the bowl games on television, I'd still say we played as well as we could, that we played every game well," said Lynch.

Dave Kerr is the only New York Ranger ever to win the Vezina Trophy, awarded annually to the goalie allowing the fewest National Hockey League goals. Kerr got the honor in 1939-40.

Make Sure It Doesn't Have Too Much Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Reflections after watching one too many movie and television sports documentaries:

Scene: The office of a documentary film producer. Gathered are script writers, producers, cameramen and jazz musicians with goatees.

The producer speaks: "Gentlemen, our next documentary is going to be about sports. We're going to call it, 'The Violent World of Bobo Haffenstadel.'"

"Who's he?"
"A football player. I think. Football is a game. The show has great possibilities for lines like: 'To lose is a fable. It stirs the animal.'"

"What does that mean?"
"I don't know, but we use that in all our sports documentaries. We also have a deep voice say: 'The struggle epitomizes life itself. It brings man face - to - face with his basic drives, against unseen resistance.' And then the boys here play that jazz-type music, all out of tune. It's very effective."

"How do they make those noises, anyway?"
"I don't know. Boys, how do you do it?"

"Well, I whistle through a trombone with the slide removed, and Joe and Sam jump up and down on three baritone saxophones. In the background we play a tape recording of a human sacrifice. You have to be careful to stay off the beat and out of tune. It takes practice."

"But what does all this have to do with football?"
"It gives the whole deal some class. We aren't aiming at a few creeps who just like sports. We want to link up sports with the struggle for existence, with man's eternal dream."

"I don't get it, myself, but at least we're working on a real sport for a change. I was getting tired of those half-hour segments of fly fishing in Patagonia, mixed in with barrel jumping on pogo sticks."

"Sports, schmorts, they're all the same."

"I'm not so sure about that. A guy who likes to sit around the corner bar arguing about how many homers Ted Williams might have hit if he had played for the Yankees probably finds a fast half hour on bicycle riding in the Pyrennes a bit of a drag."

"Why I thought some of our best films were on the unusual sports. The one on yak racing in the Himalayas was very effective. And I still remember that wonderful one on clam digging in middle Mississippi."

"How about that one on 12-man volleyball for left-handed Peruvians. Very effective camera work on that one—all out of focus and fuzzy."

"Yes, and the sound track never matched the picture once. You know, the voice was talking about something and the people in the pictures were doing something else. And we never said who was talking. Great show."

"But do you think real sports fans are interested in that sort of stuff?"

"Who cares? Now let's get cracking on this football thing. We want a lot of fuzzy footage that means nothing, some deep thought-type platitudes and squeaky racket in the background. Just be careful you don't get too much junk about football in it."

Ohl Returns To Lineup

DETROIT (AP)—Sharp-shooting guard Don Ohl will be back in the Detroit Pistons lineup Thursday at Baltimore, the National Basketball Association team announced Wednesday. Ohl missed seven games because of a severe ankle sprain. The Pistons won only two of the seven, and part of the trouble can be blamed on a heavy share of injuries to key players, including Ohl, center Bob Ferry, and guard - forward Dave DeBusschere.

Jess Neely has had 17 teams play 500 or better football in his 24 seasons at Rice.

Score Is Deadlocked In Davis Cup Series

By WILL GRIMSLEY
ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Unpredictable Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., won but American tennis ace Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., lost today as the United States and Australia's defenders tied 1-1 in the opening singles of the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Ralston, slender, 21-year-old University of Southern California junior, pulled out of a tailspin to overcome 19-year-old John Newcombe, a surprise starter, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 4-6, 7-5, in the opening match of the best-of-five series for the storied Cup, symbol of world tennis supremacy.

Ron Emerson, 27, the Australian champion, downed McKinley, 22, the Wimbledon king from Trinity University of Texas, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5 to even the competition before a capacity crowd of 7,000 in the Memorial Drive Stadium.

The outcome probably will be decided by the doubles match Friday in which Emerson and 30-year-old Neale Fraser will take on Ralston and McKinley. On Saturday, Ralston, who has been playing superbly in Australia, will meet Emerson and

Red Wings Tip Rangers 4 To 3 On Howe's Goal

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe's second goal of the game broke a 3-3 tie at 9:03 of the final period Wednesday night and gave the Detroit Red Wings a 4-3 National Hockey League victory over the New York Rangers in their traditional Christmas clash.

Howe's goal, his 11th of the season, was scored on a tap-in of Alex Delvecchio's shot. It killed a hustling Ranger bid for at least a tie, including an uncon-

Air Force Has Potent Attack, Tar Heels Too

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Picture this possibility in the Gator Bowl football game Saturday: North Carolina leading by two points with two minutes left to play.

None of the 50,000 spectators better leave his seat and head for the parking lot. Nor is it a good time for a television viewer to go to the kitchen for another beer.

Terry Isaacson is perfectly capable of driving the Air Force Falcons the length of the field in two minutes and change the whole perspective.

He did it this season against Washington, Nebraska and Colorado.

Suppose the situation were the other way around and Air Force leads by two points with two minutes to play.

Same conclusion.

Junior Edge quarterbacked the Tar Heels to a late-minutes 16-14 victory over Duke.

Coach Jim Hickey of North Carolina teaches a special stop-the-clock offense for just such a situation.

"We call ours the two-minute

Shoe Choice Is Important

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Alie Sherman is leaving the fashion footwear for Sunday's National Football League title game to the individual choice of his New York Giants.

If Wrigley Field in Chicago is frozen, the choice of shoes could be vital.

A number of Giants have said they would wear sneakers instead of the conventional cleats if frozen conditions prevail. The team will take along several dozen pairs of sneakers.

"I'm leaving that up to the players," Sherman said on Wednesday about the shoe problem. "Anyone who wants to wear sneakers may do it."

The condition of the field, of course, could help determine the outcome of the Giants' clash with the Bears. One expert sized it up this way:

"If it snows or rains, the odds undoubtedly will switch in favor of the Bears. If it is cold and the field is frozen, it will be in favor of the team with the best passing attack and that gives the Giants and Y. A. Title the edge. The passing team has the advantage because the receiver knows where he's going to go and can get that vital step on the defender. Of course, the Bears can pass, too."

The Giants resumed practice today after a day off for Christmas. Sherman planned to work the Eastern Division champions hard today and Friday before ending the sessions.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—War Memorial Stadium, which today lies under a protective coating of chemical crystals and 50 tons of straw, will have its back massaged Saturday.

Still, you can't convince Boston's Mike Holovak or Buffalo's Lou Saban that modern science will prevent a frozen field for Saturday's Eastern Division title playoff in the American Football League.

The chemical crystals have been spread on the ground to promote melting. The straw provides heat to melt snow. And a tractor armed with high brushes will give the turf its massage.

Holovak and Saban, however, are making their plans on the assumption that the field will be frozen.

Holovak worked his Patriots out on a snowy practice field in Boston Wednesday and emphasized, "it will give us a preview of coming attractions. It might surprise us and turn out that the weather is less than frozen, but we're going on the assumption that we'll be playing on a frozen field."

Then he threw in some psychological warfare:

"A frozen field could put us behind the eight-ball. No question about it, a frozen field will help the Bills a lot more than it will help us. In fact, it's made to order for them."

Holovak based that fact on the different styles of Buffalo's Cookie Gilchrist and Boston's Larry Garrison, the leading ground gainers for each team.

"A hard, frozen field," said Holovak, "would be better for all the advantages, but admitted Buffalo might have a surprise.

"I'm concerned about the weather," said Saban after sending his team through a workout in a Buffalo armory. "I think it will be a big factor. The footing concerns us most."

Saban, however, wasn't about to concede the Bills would have their passing.
